Dr. Shelton Declares Fox Thinks He Is Guided By Providence

By DAN CAMPBELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

COURTROOM, Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—Dr. A. L. Skoog, nationally recognized authority on mental diseases, took the witness stand at the Parker murder trial today and declared William Edward Hickman to be insane.

The defense qualified the witness as a psychiatrist of world repute as the dean of the school of mental and nervous diseases at the University of Kansas, a graduate of Northwestern university and at various times connected with mental institutions throughout the country, including the Woodcroft sanatorium in Colorado.

Dr. Skoog followed Dr. R. O. Shelton, former insanity commissioner of San Diego county, to the stand. The defense was to put its hypothetical question to the alienists collectively at the conclusion of Dr. Skoog's testimony.

Defense May Rest Soon

It was believed that the defense would rest its case some time before the close of the late session.

Dr. Shelton testified that Hickman entertained delusions that he was being guided by a "special providence" and had been selected to be a great leader.

The physician declared that the slayer believed the murder of Marion Parker to have been a test. The test was for the purpose of determining whether he had emotions, Hickman said, according to the alienists.

By stopping his work of dismembering the body and playing a phonograph record, "Bye Bye, Baby," the slayer determined that he was emotionless and therefore qualified to be a great leader.

Had Insanity Germ at Birth

Dr. Shelton testified that the germ of insanity was in the youth at birth and began to develop at the age of 12.

The psychiatrist provided the only humorous incident in the dull technical discourse by declaring he was "not sure I am in the courtroom."

The statement was made as the doctor explained what form an illusion might take. Spectators were convulsed with laughter as District Attorney Keyes attempted to turn the statement to advantage.

Dr. Skoog revealed hat Hickman does not believe he is insane.

The physician said that the slayer declared that many people thought him "crazy" but that he was no more insane than any one else.

Dr. Skoog read into the records the list of questions he put to Hickman in his cell.

Among other things Hickman said he believed that Marion Park-

ANAHEIM MAN IS KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

Orris Mullinix, Formerly Of Santa Ana, Terribly Crushed in Crash

Orris A. Mullinix, 43, a druggist in Santa Ana and Anaheim for the past 21 years, was instantly killed at noon today, when he was struck by a Santa Fe train at the Ball road crossing one mile south of Anaheim.

Mullinix was in the act of pushing his stalled touring car off the tracks when hit. The accident happened on a curve and the engineer did not see the man and automobile until too late to avoid the accident.

The body of Mullinix was horribly crushed. The car was completely wrecked.

The body was taken to the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral parlors in Anaheim. An inquest probably will be held there tomorrow.

Mullinix lived at 108 East Center street, Anaheim. He sold his drug store in Anaheim last March. Before going to Anaheim he was engaged in the drug business in this city.

The train was in charge of E. Howard, conductor, and E. K. Stevens, engineer, both of Los Angeles.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 3.—Lady Godiva was scheduled to appear—in person and in nothing else—at the Fine Arts ball here tonight but police warned that matrons armed with blankets would be ready to hide her charms from guests at the dance.

"We have a nice, white horse and a girl to ride it," B. B. Boyd in charge of the Arts ball, said.

"It looks like a hoax, but we're taking no chances," replied Chief of Police Chamberlain. "That girl has no more right to appear naked than President Coolidge."

Unemployment In Ventura Furnishes Big Labor Problem

VENTURA, Calif., Feb. 3.—Attracted by oil activities, a rush of employment seekers has so complicated the labor situation here that the Associated Charities of Ventura has been compelled to broadcast word that there is an oversupply of workers.

Outside of the oil fields Ventura is not a labor center, it was pointed out. The fact that the larger oil companies take care of their employes and transfer crews from other fields leaves little work for the incoming job seekers, according to the chamber of commerce.

The board of supervisors has ordered a two weeks' limitation for stopping at the county auto camp grounds. The Ventura chief of police has issued orders to arrest all suspicious characters without employment.

'Spindle City' Flames Rage For 15 Hours

49 Office Buildings Either Destroyed or Damaged In Blaze

BY EILLARD E. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 2.—The fire which burned for more than 15 hours in this city's business district, causing estimated damage of $25,000,000, was "completely extinguished" shortly before 10 a. m., today, Police Chief Martin Feeney announced.

In some sections the ruins still were smouldering, but there was no sign of flames.

A complete check-up today revealed that 49 office buildings and six houses either were destroyed or damaged by the fire.

Half Square Mile in Ruins

Half a square mile in the heart of the business and industrial section of the "Spindle City" lay in ruins. Within nine hours the flames, which started at 7 p. m., Thursday, in the idle plant of the Pocasset textile mills, had spread with such fury that at times the entire city of 125,000 population appeared doomed.

Five hundred regular firemen, recruited from dozens of nearby towns in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and hundreds of volunteers fought all night against the reavy odds of a freezing wind and darkness.

The first streaks of dawn revealed that they had won only a partial victory. The city's homes had been saved, but a bulk of the business section, which its residents had spent years in building up, was destroyed.

Disastrous Blow to City

On top of the industrial depression, which already was making itself felt here, the blow was the most disastrous in the history of Fall River.

Twelve persons, including five firemen, were injured seriously and 250 persons were treated for minor hurts.

Included in the list of buildings destroyed were the great Pocasset mills, the Rialto theater, Hotel Mohican, the News-Herald plant, but terminal and numerous small structures.

The "Granite block" on Main street, was closest to the mills and was the first to catch the full force of the fire.

Hotel and Theater Destroyed

Then the blaze leaped to Central street and the Mohican hotel was destroyed. The Rialto theater, packed with the regular night

MEASURE TO BE RETURNED ON MARCH 15

Swing Resolution to Take Action at Once Defeated by New Amendment

HOPE FOR AGREEMENT

Setback Suffered by Proponents in Committee's Postponement Decision

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The house irrigation committee voted today to report the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill to the house, but not until March 15.

A resolution to report the bill immediately was offered by Representative Swing, but an amendment by Representative Morrow, Democrat, New Mexico, holding up the report until March 15, was adopted by a vote of 13 to 4.

The resolution provides that Chairman Smith, of the committee, shall request commissioners of the seven states involved to seek an agreement before March 15. Smith will notify them that unless an agreement is reached the bill will be reported March 15 and early action sought by the house.

The resolution expressed "the earnest vow" of the committee that some agreement may be reached by the states involved regarding matters now in dispute.

The resolution was a defeat for Swing and other proponents of the bill who want immediate action by congress.

Those voting against the resolution for reporting the bill were:

Allgood, Alabama; Douglas, Arizona, Democrats, and Winter, Wyoming, and Leatherwood, Colorado, Republicans.

BRITISH WAR HERO IS LAID TO REST

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Resting in a flag-draped coffin beside the tomb of the unknown warrior in Westminster Abbey, the body of Field Marshal Earl Haig, wartime commander-in-chief of the British army in France, was accorded final honors today.

Hundreds of thousands jammed the long route by which the funeral procession, one and one-half miles long, reached the historic Abbey from St. Columbia's church, where the body of Great Britain's most famous and most loved soldier had lain in state for two days.

Not only the whole British empire, but the allied countries with whose army leaders Earl Haig had gone through the war, joined in the funeral ceremony. French and Belgian troops were among the 6500 soldiers in the funeral procession.

Asked by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, how he justified acceptance of this salary from a private business while serving as a public official, Caldwell said it merely was a retainer for later service.

LAGUNA BEACH CITY OFFICIALS CITED FOR ASSERTED CONTEMPT OF COURT

GEORGE S. Johnston, city councilman of Laguna Beach, and J. B. Neal, city treasurer, both officers in Coast Industries, Inc., who were arrested several days ago on a charge of violation of the California corporate securities act, have been cited to appear in Judge James Allen's superior court this afternoon for contempt of court, according to Norman Robotham, receiver appointed by the court for the concern.

O. J. Hoogstedt, former city attorney of Laguna Beach, and also an officer in the Coast Industries concern, also is scheduled to appear on the summons signed by Judge Allen several days ago, Robotham declared.

Robotham declared today that he caused the order to be signed by the court because the officials of the corporation under fire had failed to turn over to him as receiver certain papers of the concern.

Five different complaints have been filed against the firm by stockholders, charging violation of the state law in issuing stock without a permit from the corporation commissioner of California. T. A. Cummings, mayor of Laguna Beach, is one of the complainants.

Greater Than Christ

He declared that Hickman believed himself greater than Christ because he said Christ came to earth to save the poor while he was destined to deliver a message for all men.

Dr. Shelton said that Hickman believes that if he is hanged he will be like Christ.

At other times he believes that he will never be hanged, but that his "providence" will cause some accident that will halt the law.

"He is under the delusion, for example, that he could make you his friend," Dr. Shelton said, addressing District Attorney Asa Keyes.

"This is the first real delusion you have shown us," Keyes declared.

The remark was ordered stricken from the records by Judge J. J. Trabucco.

Mexico Beggars Must Go To Work

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—Mexico City's beggars, estimated as numbering 10,000, must either go to work or go to jail. Orders from the governor of the federal district are for the arrest of all found asking alms.

Opening the campaign the police in a few days a rrested 315 adult mendicants and 120 children. All were sent either to institutions or to prison for investigation. Many alleged cripples were found to be fakers. Some of the children, it was discovered, were acting directly under the instruction of their parents who were also beggars.

It has been common in Mexico City to see sometimes a half-dozen beggars to a block. Propped against buildings their wails, particularly at night, made a journey down a city street one of agony to foreigenrs or to persons whose susceptibles were easily touched. In public buildings, such as the post office, they were so insistent that one had to keep on the move to avoid them.

Letter Goes Round World In 4 Months

HARBIN, Feb. 3—It takes a letter four months and 11 days to travel round the world.

This has been demonstrated by a Harbin resident of inquisitive mind. He addressed a letter to America to a fictitious address but gave direction that should the addressee not be found, the letter should be forwarded to a given address in France, and thence to Germany and so on.

The post offices of America, France, Germany, Poland and Soviet Russia faithfully carried out the direction given and finally the letter reached the sender back at Harbin after having been on its way four months and 11 days.

ORDER ISSUED FOR ARREST OF OIL EXECUTIVE

ject, Dawes announced:

"Without objection, it is agreed."

Dawes immediately issued the warrant and handed it to David Barry, sergeant-at-arms.

A few minutes after adoption of the resolution the senate recessed until noon tomorrow, when Stewart is due to be presented before its bar and asked again the questions he refused to answer today.

Declines To Comment

Stewart declined again today to comment on the $3,000,000 profits of the Continental Trading company, of Canada—$233,000 of which was given former Secretary of Interior Fall by H. F. Sinclair, shortly after Fall leased Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

"I must respectfully decline to answer," said Stewart.

"I never handled any of the bonds," Stewart said. "I never heard of Teapot Dome until Sinclair got the lease. Nor do I know of any bonds being given to any political party, government officials or any official of any state, municipality or territory of the United States."

"Why did you deny that you had given any of these bonds to a political party?" Senator Walsh, of Montana, asked.

Read It in Paper

"I think I read in the newspaper that you were looking into some question like that," Stewart replied.

Stewart reiterated his yesterday's story. He said he thought it proper for H. F. Blackmer, of the Midwest Refining company, to take a commission on the oil if he desired.

He said Blackmer forced him to pay $1.75 for Mexia oil which the Continental had bought the same day for $1.50, under a contract which he (Stewart) guaranteed.

Walsh questioned this statement because Stewart and Blackmer first had negotiated together to get A. E. Humphrey's Mexia oil.

While arguing over this difference, Walsh accused Stewart of evading questions. Stewart replied he did not desire to evade.

"Maybe I Made Mistake"

"Maybe I made a mistake here," Stewart told Walsh. "Maybe you should be chairman of the board instead of me. Maybe I could have got the oil for 25 cents a barrel less, but I didn't do it. Does the senate give you power to ask about what I didn't do?"

Senator Kendrick, of Wyoming, told Stewart his story was logical up to the time of the formation of the Continental, but that "I am unable to follow it after that."

Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, argued with Stewart about what went on in his mind when he signed the Continental contract.

"Let us assume you are a good business man," Cutting said.

"Well, let's drop that assumption," Stewart reported.

"We could asume you were an imbecile," Cutting went on.

"Yes."

"We could assume that you are committing perjury now—"

Threatens to Bolt

"What's that? I'm not committing perjury. If you say that I'll leave this room instantly. The senate does not empower you to insult me."

"I don't mean to insult you," Cutting said. He withdrew the perjury remark.

Chairman Nye elicited that Blackmer, the man Stewart says forced him to pay $1.75 a barrel for the oil, was president of the Midwest Refining company, a Standard subsidiary.

TROOPS KILL SEVEN NICARAGUAN REBELS

The troop later joined Major Archibald's advance on El Chipote. They reported that in addition to the seven known dead they had counted several fresh graves along their route.

Persistent rumors continued among conservative politicians here today that the United States was considering the possibility of having Gen. Emiliano Chamorro, former president, ousted from Nicaragua if he continued opposition to the McCoy electoral law.

Chamorro is understood to have told friends he was determined that the law, in its original form, giving the United States complete supervision in the coming elections, should not pass.

Bobbed Hair For Wives Of German Officers Banned

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—A command prohibiting bobbed hair among the wives of naval officers has just been issued by Vice-Admiral Raeder, head of the German naval station in the Baltic sea.

The order has aroused a storm of protest from the officers' wives and has called forth satirical comments in the German press.

The Frankfurter-Zeitung, commenting upon the decree, says:

"Although the fashions in hair and beard among the officers and crew of the ex-Kaiser's navy were regulated by orders, it has remained for Vice-Admiral Raeder to decide the styles in Ladies' coiffeur."

LOS ANGELES FIGHT ON GAS RATES HEARD

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—Cross examination of Samuel S. Bloom, assistant engineer of the state railroad commission, in an an effort to show that an exhibit erred in its technical and chart drawings, occupied the morning session of the commission's hearing of the city's fight for lower gas rates.

Bloom smiled broadly as he pointed out to Attorney Paul Overton, of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company, figures and drawings which the attorney apparently did not comprehend.

City Attorney Jess E. Stephens continued to object strenuously to the manner of cross examination, stating that Overton was trying to "heckle" the witness with "sarcasms."

Bloom still maintained that the 1928 profits will bring the company more than 8 per cent in dividends, which would be more than the legal rate set by the state railroad commission.

Blom said that if the gas company sells as much gas this year as in 1927 the profits will be 10.7 per cent of the capital instead of eight per cent.

Overton argued that Bloom "does not know anything about what the profits for 1928 will be."

Bloom pointed out that if the gas sale in 1928 averages the same as in the past four years the profits will be in excess of nine percent

Her condition was reported as serious today. Attendants said there was practically no change during the night.

Says League Must Talk Prohibition

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The ravages of international liquor traffic will become a regular debating& subject of the council of the League of Nations before many years, it was predicted by Sir Donald MacLean, prominent in Scottish military and social circles, in an address here before the Band of Hope Union.

Hhe characterized prohibition as one of the greatest experiments the world has ever seen.

"I don't know a single public man in the United States," he said, "who suggests that it would be possible, now or far ahead, to put that great experiment to one side. The utmost they can suggest is some mitigation of it."

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The world is being over-jazzed, according to Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll.

"We have got a little in the way, if I may say so, of jazz," the princess declared in an address before the British Empire Music festival. "It is very nice, no doubt, for those who want to dance to it, but we do not always want it. We want something beautiful and inspiring and comforting to refresh us after our daily work."

crowd, caught fire next. The manager led his customers to safety before the theater collapsed.

The Premier theater also was badly damaged.

The flames spread uptown and finally ignited the big Durfee mill, at 12th street.

The flames spread on to 18th street. It was so cold that the streets were turned to sheets of ice and the charred walls in many places were iced coated.

Much of the fire fighting apparatus was coated with ice and rendered useless.

Chamber of commerce officials reported that from 5000 to 10,000 persons were out of work because of the fire.

Reports that martial law had been declared were denied by Chief Feeney, who said there had been no looting.

German Composer Injured By Jazz

FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, Feb. 3.—A passion for jazz melodies may be responsible for the professional downfall of the German composer, Bernhard Sekles, director of the Hoch conservatory of music in Frankfurt.

Sekles, after declaring that recent decades had witnessed a neglect of rhythm in music, established a special course in "jazz tunes" at the distinguished Frankfurt conservatory. The departure caused an uproar among German highbrows.

Now that the Frankfurt conservatory is to be transformed from a private to a state institution, it is reported that Sekles will be discharged from his function as directory.

King George Has Dignified Parrot

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Buckingham palac e, besides being the residence of King George, is inhabited by Charlotte, the king's parrot.

This fact was only recently revealed to the public.

Charlotte is an elderly, dignified bird which has a cage in the king's private sitting-room. Usually she treats her royal master's visitors with silent contempt. Few are accorded the privilege of petting her.

The latest exception to the genera lrule has been made by the king in favor of his grand-daughter, Princess Elizabeth, the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York.

200,000 Journey Made By Carrier

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Frank J. Bernier, for 35 years a mail carrier here, was retired on a pension by the New Orleans post office. Fellow employes presented the veteran mail carrier with an expensive watch on his leaving the service.

Bernier, it is estimated, has walked 200,000 miles, equivalent to eight times around the globe, during his mail carrying jaunts.

At the time of retirement, Bernier said that in recent years he had averaged 22 miles a day on his delivery route. That is a much shorter distance than he covered several years ago, he added.

SAYS BUSINESS WATCH WORD OF RUSSIA LEADERS

By DUKE N. PARRY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A Russia of businessmen and fair dealing seldom visualized by the great masses of people in other parts of the world was seen by Charles H. Smith, chief of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce during a one year visit to that country which ended with his recent return to New York.

Smith, as representative of the most important businesses in the United States having dealings with firms under the Soviet flag, forgets politics and talks of oil, furs, cotton and many other items which appear in the foreign trade reports of Russia and which place the United States among the first three customers of that once turbulent land.

Seen by a United Press correspondent in the office of the American Russian Chamber of Commerce, located closeby the stock exchange, the National City Bank building and the Standard Oil company's headquarters, this Hoosier businessman who has spent 11 years in Russia, told of a country which gradually is subordinatiang politics to business, improvement of the life of its people and to establishment of itself as a concern which bears the businessman's stamp of "good pay."

He showed figures to prove that Russia is the great customer of the cotton planters of the American southern states. He quoted figures to illustrate the importance of concessions granted American firms by the soviet. Finally, after declaring that Russian leaders, like many Americans, are putting recognition of Russia by the United States in a place secondary to establishment of Russo-American trade on a firm basis, he pointed out that a growing tendency toward private capitalism may be seen in soviet cities.

"The societ government, which is in reality nothing more than the commission form of government and similar to the commission form of government in American cities, is in Russia to stay," said Smith, who, before his work in the interests of the chamber of commerce was an Indiana railway construction engineer.

"Businessmen of Russia, like American business leaders, are willing to attend to business and let politics—recognition, arguments regarding forms of government, propaganda—take care of itself. The present leaders of Russia are interested first in the Russian peoples' welfare; they have spent most of their lives in Russia. The extremist political leaders are out of control."

The businessmen of Russia, he said, are accepting the new regime and are following the lead of the government who has been educating the people and making possible a more general distribution of wealth, a distribution which increases in size every year.

Turning to increased trade between the United States and Russia Smith declared that the intelligent societ leaders are directly responsible for increased sales of Unitetd States cotton to Russia.

"The government has created a demand for a better clothed race," he said, "by educating its people. Approximately 80 per cent of the cotton used in Russia textile mills comes from the United Statets. It amounted to a turnover of about $3,000,000 last year. As the demand increases in Russia, as it is increasing each year, orders from foreign countries grow. Right now the textile mills of Russia have orders for more cotton goods than they can supply."

This interpreter of the Russia of 1928 plans a tour of the United States which will take him to many of the largest cities of the country within the next two motnhs. Figures he showed today on concessions, coton, furs,—even an item of $682,000 spent by the United States on Russian licorice root and similar products—will be presented the chambers of commerce of Buffalo, Rochester, Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Boston during February. Later, in March, he will begin a tour which will take him through South Bend and his native state of Indiana, which will cover many of the larger cities of the middle west and will end probably in New Orleans after a visit to Houston, Texas.

"Germany ranks first in Russia, both in imports and exports," Smith said, adding in commenting on this surprising gain by postwar Germany of one of the world's most important markets, that Germany, of course, must have Russian raw materials for her very existence.

"During the past year the United States has been first in imports into Russia, although England has been second in the total trade turnover, while the United States ranks third in this respect. England's purchases from Russia are much greater than her sales," he added, commenting on the fact that England has become a most important buyer of Russian oil. He cited the fact that in the matter of important concessions granted by Russia, concessions such as that granted the Harriman interests to work the Chiaturi manganese fields in Georgia, Germany had received 31 such concessions since the government had approved such grants, the United States had received 11 and England 10.

BIG AIRPLANE FAILS TO SAIL FOR IMPERIAL

Weather condition here and in the Imperial valley prevented the Zenith Air corporation at Midway City starting its big monoplane, the Albatross, for Imperial city today to launch its weight test flight.

Arrangements had been completed for the plane to hop off late yesterday afternoon but reports of a desert wind in the valley caused the company to hold the plane here.

When the weather clears the plane will be flown to Imperial and the test flight will start from a dry lake near that city. It was pointed out here today by A. K. Peterson, one of the pilots, that the start of the test flight cannot be made in this vicinity because a field is not available with sufficient length to make it possible for the ship to get into the air with its heavy load.

According to Peterson, it is expected the attempt to make a world record for sustained flight will be attempted two days after arrival at Imperial.

HARBIN, Feb. 3.—Face powder has been used by a young Chinese woman as means to commit suicide. After an altercation with her husband, she decided to end her days and swallowed five bozfulls of the powder.

It is not known what make of face-powder she chose, but it failed to bring about the desired result. After a strong dose of castor-oil, the would-be suicide was restored to life and perfect health.

JUDGE SCORES DISTILLER OF POOR WHISKEY

"Of all the category of crime, to my mind the manufacture of moonshine whiskey is the worst

Superior Judge Homer G. Ames refused to grant probation today to George M. Ota, 25, convicted recently by a jury of owning a still and characterised his crime in the above terms when he sentenced him to spend from one to five years in San Quentin.

Ota denied connection with a still on Buaro road, but the jury found him guilty after the case had been tried by District Attorney Sam Collins and Ota's attorney, D. G. Wettlin. Ota is of Japanese parentage and was born in the Hawaiian islands.

"Fat" Joe Rosales, of Atwood, he who refused recently to be defended by a lawyer, received a sentence of six months in the county jail after his conviction on a charge of sale. Rosales told the court today he had tried to be a good sport and had "bought" liquor for two strangers with money they gave to him. He had only tried to be friendly, he said. Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget prosecuted Rosales.

Elisio Saldana pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned befor Judge Ames on a charge of sale. His trial was set for February 9. He is out on a bail bond.

Inese Rodarte, of Anaheim, was sentenced by Justice Kenneth Morrison to pay a $500 fine following his conviction yesterday on a charge of possession. L. E. Lopez, also of Anaheim, was tried on the same charge yesterday before a jury in Morrison's court. The jurors disagreed and the case will be heard again February 16 at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Rita Quinonez, of Santa Ana, appeared before Judge Ames and pleaded not guilty when she was arraigned on a charge of selling booze. She will be tried February 16 at 9:30.

Trains Dogs And Sells Hot Ones

LANCASTER, O., Feb. 3.—Combining selling of hot dogs with training of live ones, Rufus Chappuis, restaurant proprietor, is one of the leading dog enthusiasts of the country.

With the assistance of Cecil Bugh and under the name of the Lancaster Amusement company, Chappius has supplied 20 per cent of the canines on the Keith vaudeville circuit and many of those used in United States circuses.

All the delicate work is done in a little room over the restaurant, where the animals are taught to somersault, walk on two legs, walk a wire, and numerous other tricks.

The fox terrier is the easiest type of dog to train, according to Chappuis, who says that three months is the average training time, providing three practices a day.

HAROLD BROWN BUYS INTEREST IN FIRM HERE

Harold R. Brown, former Santa Anan and for the past eight years associated with Halsted and Company in San Francisco, today announced purchase of a half-interest in the S. L. Harrell Funeral home at 116 West Seventeenth street, Santa Ana.

He will begin his affiliation with the local chapel immediately and wil make his residence in this city hereafter. Mrs. Brown, a San Francisco girl, will move here as soon as the health of her father, who is seriously ill, permits.

STRANGE WILL OF 1825 IS REVEALED

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—A story of a big inheritance in England, said to be comething like £1,500,000, falling to the descendants of a Hamburg shipowner, who died in 1825, is published in the Berlin Press.

Over a hundred years ago, it is said, Fraulein Vollstede married a Brunswicker named Erich Mansfeld, who became a shipowner at Hamburg and died in Ceylon in 1825, leaving a fortune of £15,000. The widow moved to Vienna, where she died two years later.

She left a strange will, in which it was laid down that the fortune should not go to the immediate heirs, but should lie intact for 100 years. The money was invested in England, where, according to the accounts published, it has grown, with interest and careful administration, into a large sum, $1,500,000 being mentioned.

The 100 years have now elapsed, and the children and grandchildren of the heirs whose interitance was withheld become entitled to share the fortune. According to a representative of the Brunswick branch of the Mansfeld family, 250 persons have already entered claims.

The execution of the will has been placed in the hands of a Berlin lawyer, Dr. Ludwig Ruge. The lawyer admits there is truth in the story and that he has been intrusted with the case. At present, however, he is not in a position to give any information, nor even to say which details, if any, are inaccurate.

BANDITS HOLD EMPLOYEE OF CLUB AT BEACH

Laurel Wiltse, 27, employe of the Cazadores gun club, one mile north of Sunset Beach, was held up by two unmasked bandits who had parked their machine crossways in the road, near the Chico gun club at 6:30 o'clock last night, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

The men demanded money, but Wiltse had none and after he was searched was allowed to get in his machine and depart after being warned to "keep still after this affair.

Wiltse was driving to Sunday Beach from the gun club and stopped when he thought there was an accident. A man walked up to him and at the point of a gun, demanded his money.

"I haven't got any money," Wiltse answered.

"Well, get out, we'll see about that," the bandit demanded and as Wiltse stepped from the car, he was thoroughly searched.

$150,000,000 LOSS CAUSED BY INSECTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. — Not content with destroying $2,000,000,000 worth of food crops annually, the army of insects is now attacking the source of lumber supply, causing a loss of $150,000,000 yearly.

So secretly do insects strike at the heart of a stretch of woodland that their presence is only revealed by the havoc they have wrought, unless a radio microphone or other sensitive device is used to detect their silent borings within the trees.

Nine forest insects are known. They include the western pine beetle, southern pine beetle, mountain pine beetle, eastern spruce beetle, black hills pine beetle, spruce bud worm, Englemann spruce beetle, gypsy moth and larch sawfly. The western pine beetle alone, during the past 10 years, has killed on a single area over one and one-half billion board feet of the best trees, with a stumpage value of more than $3,000,000. The bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture spent $150,000 before arresting the progress of the pine beetle in this particular area.

Combine Against Pests

Co-operative forest-insect control on a mammoth scale is now being undertaken on federal, state and private lands on Pacific coast and Rocky mountain areas. More than one million acres of land and in excess of eleven billion board feet of yellow-pine timber, with a stumpage value of over $25,000,000, are involved in a single project.

Chews 50 Sticks Gum At One Time

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 3.—It isn't hard to be a champion in these days of so many fields of unusual endeavor.

Gene Tunney is heavyweight champion of the world, but Art Needham, Oregon State College student, is the champion gum chewer.

Needham can, and has. Not only that but he demonstrated his contempt for obstacles by playing a tune on a ocrnet after the 50th stick was limbered up and in action.

"Tunney might get 50 sticks of gum in his mouth," Needham said, "but I'll bet he could not play the cornet without taking them out."

IRVINE GIVES MUCH HOPE TO SANTA ANANS

Members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce committee who went to San Francisco to meet with James Irvine relative to property for a dirigible site and government landing field returned home this morning well satisfied with the results of their northern trip.

Committee members declared they were met with cordiality and enthusiasm by Mr. Irvine who gave his assurance that he would do everything possible to work out a plant that would be satisfactory to all concerned, including the committee and the people seeking the location of a site on the Irvine property near the upper end of Newport Bay.

Eight committeemen made the trip north, some going by automobile and the remainder by train.

HIGH SCHOOL P.-T. A. ENJOYS FINE PROGRAM

A group of musical selections and a play, "The Potboilers," formed the interesting program presented last night at a meeting of the Santa Ana high school P.-T. A. and the Santa Ana junior college P.-T. A. held jointly in the Y hut.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of S. J. Mustol, presented several numbers, songs were sung by the Women's Glee club of the junior college with Miss Myrtle Martin leading, the junior quartet, the high school girls' trio, the high school boys' quartet, the junior college girls' quartet, and the college men's chorus.

The play was put on by the junior college drama class under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips. The cast included Ray Lindman, the director; Hall Huff, Mr. Ruler; Mydas Capps, Mrs. Pencil; John Vance, Mr. Ivory; Dorthy Haynes, Miss Ivory; Bill Burt, Mr. Inkwell; and Don Park, Mr. Woulby.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served.

C. OF C. LEADER ASKS CHAMBER SUPPORT

Declaring that the chamber of commerce is the head of the civic progress of the community and that it represents the best interests of private citizens as well as business men, J. W. Estes sr., chairman of the chamber's membership campaign committee, today made an appeal for the co-operation of every one in the city in boosting the membership.

"Every resident who is interested in Santa Ana and its progress should co-operate in the membership campaign, and those who are financially able should become members," Estes said, in commenting on the facts that the dues are only $12 a year.

Hubby's Clothes Disappear; Money Needed By Wife

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 3.—Returning home to change clothes, Jack Smith found that his closet, like Mother Hubbard's cupboard, was bare.

Notifying the police, Smith lodged a complaint against some unknown thief and officers responded to the call. After an investigation, the officers reported that Mrs. Smith had needed some spending money and had sold her husband's clothing.

Ex-Kaiser Hunts Trees To Cut Down

DOORN, Holland, Feb. 4.—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, at 69, was forced to transfer his tree-chopping activities to Amerongen.

He has felled all the suitable trees on his own estate at Doorn and, in order to continue his self-imposed task, is obliged to journey to the grounds of Count Bentick's Castle which sheltered him when he first arrived in Holland.

Two members of the ex-kaiser's family, the former crown prince and Princess Victoria, with her husband, the Duke of Brunswick, were among the few guests who celebrated Wilhelm's 69th birthday. Princess Hermine, wife of the former war lord, had been busy for days preparing for the celebrations.

With his white hair and beard the former Emperor is showing signs of his rapid approach to three score and 10 years. He is taking great precautions against contracting chills and other ailments. When suffering from a slight attack of grippe at Christmas he refused to leave the house. A lover of the open air, he has not been known to take such care of himself before.

His wife, though only 41 years old, also is beginning to look weary. This is probably due to the loss of her son who was killed recently in a motorcycle accident.

Apart from the disappearance of the trees surrounding the "House Doorn," the only change that has taken place recently at House Doorn is the return of Court Marshal Count von Finkenstein from Germany. While away his duties were fulfilled by Count Robur von Paschnitz.

Studio News and Gossip.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 3.—"By Mary Aiken"—

Newspapers and magazines may soon be carrying that "by-line" if the former screen star is able to carry out her present plans. Despite the fact that since separating from her husband, Edwin Carewe, several months ago she has wanted to do some kind of work, Miss Aiken is sticking to her resolution not to act again.

"I am going to write," declares the pretty Mary. "I have always wanted to write and now I have the opportunity. Maybe some day I will be able to contribute something really worth while."

In the property settlement that followed their separation, Miss Aiken received ample means to care for herself and children the rest of their lives. But she wants to do something. She intends to start a column on the social activities of the film stars around Hollywood and Beverly Hills. Later, she hopes to produce stories for the screen.

Since being released from her contract with United Artists, Estelle Taylor is stepping high and wide in filmland. She has hardly been idle a moment, not even over the holidays. Having just completed her second picture, Miss Taylor will start work in a few days on the Fox lot. She is to play the leading role in Al Green's "Honor Bound."

Those who think that movie stars never have to do anything dangerous should see "Skyscraper"—and see Sue Carol walk around on steel girders four stories above the ground.

"Not only did Sue climb and walk about her aerial post quite nonchalantly but she actually seemed to be enjoying the thrilling but dangerous experience." That's what the studio publicity staff said about her. As a matter of fact Sue was scared to death, but she went thru with it anyway. But she had to start by walking on a girder just a few feet above the ground and gradually work up to the four-story height.

They're still making war pictures in Hollywood. But now it's getting to the point where stories must have novel twists to them or they don't get over at all. Leatrice Joy is making one now, "The Blue Danube."

RADIO EXPERT TALKS BEFORE S. A. LIONS CLUB

Radio fans in the near future may sit in their homes and see a play in a theater or a ball game in Chicago, O. A. Rew, expert radio man with the Leo J. Meyberg company, Los Angeles, told Lions in an address yesterday at the meeting of the club on the subject of "The Value of Radio to the Home and to the Commercial World."

He explained that scientists are developing inventions by which actual scenes may be transferred by radio, and declared his belief that development in the field of radio is just starting. He emphasized the point that airless service is becoming more and more an important factor in the saving of human lives, and declared that radio is one of the instruments that will add to the safety of flying.

He cited the recent transfer of a check by bankers of New York to London as a concrete example of the value of radio to the commercial life of the world. The check was for $1,500,000 and was accepted by bankers in London without equivocation, the transferred check reaching London in twenty minutes after it was requested.

W. B. Ashford was program chairman.

Diet Change For Filipinos Asked

MANILA, Feb. 3.—Filipino children are victims of so ill-balanced a diet that they suffer from malnutrition, cannot develop good teeth, and fall easy victim to tuberculosis and other diseases, according to the findings of Dr. I. Concepcion, professor of the College of Medicine of the University of the Philippines.

White rice, fish, meat in the form of stew, roast pork and sugar form the main diet of the average Filipino, Dr. Concepcion's investigation discloses. Sometimes these are supplemented with eggs, vegetables and some fruit, mainly bananas.

Such a diet is deficient in vitamins and mineral salts and predisposes individuals to such infection as tuberculosis, influenza and pneumonia, says the professor.

"I believe it is now time for our government," declares Dr. Concepcion, "to pay more attention to the most fundamental problem of all, namely the supervision of conditions under which the normal development of the individual is matured.

BIOLOGY CLASS PRESENTS TREE TO POLY HIGH

A new tree has been added to the number already to be found at the Santa Ana high school. It was presented to the school yesterday afternoon by the Biology class.

The tree is an incense cedar, Libocedrus Decurrens, of the family Cupressaceae. It is a native of California and grows to a height of from 50 to 125 feet. She tree is found in the Sierra Nevada more often than elsewhere in the state.

The incentive for planting the tree grew from a desire of students in Biology class, 102, to give something of lasting value to the school. This idea was started during the Christmas holidays when each student contributed 10 cents toward the purchase of the tree. Miss Meta Daniel is teacher of the class.

The tree was planted by Paul Wright. Miss Bertha Mulligan made a brief address presenting the tree to the school. Lynn Crawford made an interesting talk of acceptance.

YOUTH IS HELD ON BURGLARY SUSPICION

Held on suspicion of burglary, Florentine Sarota, 17, Placentia youth, is in the county jail, while officers are investigating the burglary of a house at Atwood, Wednesday night.

A pistol, with 25 shells for it and several suits of underwear were reported stolen.

Sarota was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Jess Buckles of Placentia. Officers said he admitted going in the house but denied taking the missing articles.

LIQUOR POSSESSION CASE IS CONTINUED

Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, Sunset Beach, charged with possession of 1000 quarts of beer, found in her restaurant several days ago by deputy sheriffs, today was granted a continuance of her case in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court until February 8, at 9 a. m.

At that time she is to answer to arraignment. She appeared today and stated that her attorney was ill.

GARDEN GROVE BEAN GROWERS GET $115,000

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 3.—Bean growers of the Garden Grove district were paid $115,000 for the season's crop, it was announced today by W. M. Adland, manager, of the Garden Grove Bean Growers' association.

The association shipped 23,000 sacks, representing 2,300,000 pounds, most of the beans going by trucks to the docks.

The association has been shipping beans at the rate of 2000 sacks per day this week.

A lighter crop next season is anticipated by Adland.

Large Meetings Common In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. Feb. 3.—Houston regards the coming 1928 National Democratic convention as her biggest undertaking in this field since she first stepped to the fore as a convention city.

But national conventions of considerable size are not unusual here.

During the last year Houston played host to the American Bankers association and the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association, not to mention many state gatherings.

During the last few years the city has entertained some of the largest conventions regularly held in the country, including the National Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the National Association of Retail Credit Men, the National Laundry Owners' association, Optimists International and the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Houston's city auditorium is rent free for convention purposes. It can seat more than 5000 comfortably and has a number of smaller rooms suitable for committee conferences. The structure is fireproof and was remodeled recently at a cost of more than $700,000.

DIPLOMA MILL LAW BIG AID TO CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Medical sharpers and holders of green goods certificates are giving California a wide berth as result of enactment of the Diploma Mill law.

With only three attempts to gain licenses by fraud of record during the year, the state's ailment sharpshooters are 98 per cent pure and are aiming at an even higher goal, according to the annual report of the board of medical examiners submitted to Governor C. C. Young today.

The diploma mill, which formerly ground out certificates for those who didn't elect to stand the hard grind of college courses has been thrown into reverse gear, according to Dr. D. B. Pinkham, secretary of the board. The 1927 enactment, he declares, will preclude filing of fraudulent credentials by all except those who care to ignore pronouncement of sentences ranging from one to three years in prison.

There is no royal road to medical certification except that imposed by arduous study and burning of much nocturnal oil, Dr. Pinkham points out in urging retention of written examinations before the board as the final ordeal for all who would hang their shingles in the wind or write M. D. after their names on prescription blanks. Proof of merit of the system, Dr. Pinkham says, is found in the fact that existing California medical schools again scored a bulls-eye in their assault on the state board tests last year, not one of the 110 facing examinations having failed, whereas of 116 graduates of schools with out the state who applied for licenses, only 82 per cent made the grade.

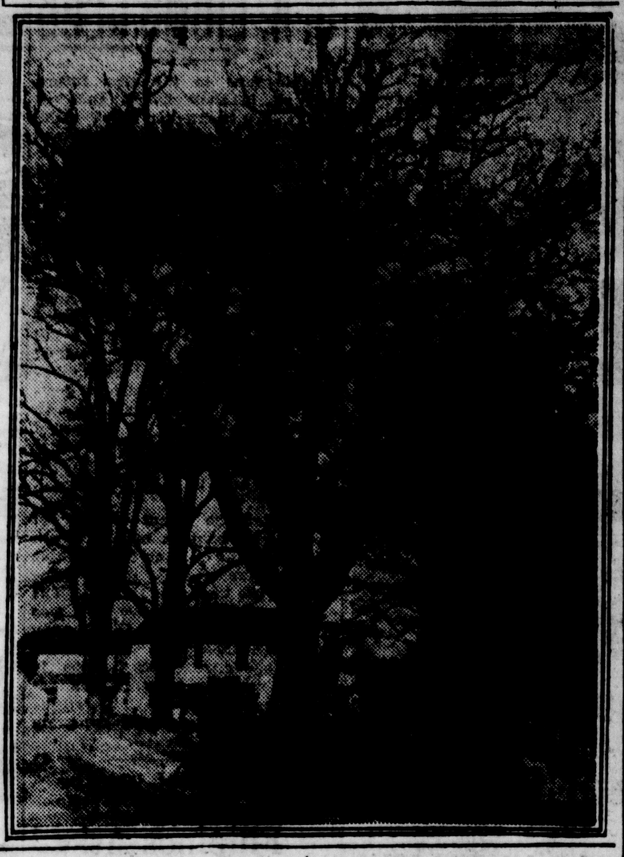

Flaws in purity of the medical profession are reflected in the 32 cases, most of them for violation of narcotic laws, before the board, which revoked the licenses of 11 men and women, deferred penalty in three cases, admitted six others to probation, continued five cases and dismissed three of the cases hailed before it for formal hearings.

Claim Settled

A disputed claim for damages was settled today when Superior Judge E. J. Marks approved a payment of $250 by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad to Balentine Lagunas for alleged damgaes to his son, Valentine Lagunas, when an automobile in which he was riding, is said to have been hit by a railroad car.

DOOMED, AFTER 500 YEARS

"Motorist, spare that tree. . . ." might well be a modern parody of the old-time poem. For it is to automotive expediency, not the woodman's axe, that this historic "whipping post" tree near Hartford, Conn., is to bow. The staunch old oak, probably half a thousand years old and used in colonial days as a whipping post, must go because a new concrete turnpike has been routed right over the spot where it stands.

Beauty Culture For Men Planned

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Beauty culture has been extended to include mere man. A famous Parisian cosmetics firm has opened a parlor where monsieur can purchase whatever he deems necessary for the obliteration of the ravages of time, just as madame has been doing for ages.

It is expected that the big department stores will follow suit so that when a man walks in and asks for a lipstick the salesgirl won't ask him: "Is it for your wife? What shade does she use?"

The innovation is being attacked in many quarters on the ground that although this is a sophisticated city it has not yet accepted such extreme ideas.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS PLAN "MOVIE BALL"

Gloria Swanson, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Lon Chaney, and many other famous moving picture actors will be represented at the Movie ball to be held tomorrow night at the K. P. hall under the auspices of the Santa Ana lodge, Knights of Pythias.

During the evening motion pictures will be taken of the crowd and the girl to screen the best will be nominated for the title of Miss Santa Ana for 1928.

Special prizes will be presented to the ones who are made up to represent popular motion picture stars.

Chinese Weekly Adds English Page

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 3.—The Liberty News, one of three Chinese tri-weeklies published in Honolulu, has added a page printed in the English language. The newspaper was founded 19 years ago but until now has steadfastly refused to recognize necessity for appealing to English reading and speaking subscribers of Chinese ancestry.

Raymond Ching, a graduate of the University of Hawaii, is editor of the English section. He is assisted by T. B. Hee, also graduated from the University of Hawaii

Name Changed By Chinese School

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 3.—Eighteen years ago, at the suggestion of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder and first president of the Chinese republic, the Wah Mun Chinese language school was started in Honolulu.

In honor of Dr. Sun Yat-sen the name of the school has been changed to Chung Shan. Dr. Sun Yat-sen is known universally by Chinese as Sun Chung-shan.

The new name of the school has been registered with the department of public instruction.

100,000 YIELD FOR FARM SEEN

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—A truck garden of 1160 acres manned by 100 white and 300 negr workers, located within a few miles of Miami, is producing fresh winter vegetables in such quantity for markets all over the country that its estimated income for the winter season is placed between $300,000 and $400,000. This huge garden is owned and operated by the Pennsylvania Sugar company, northwest of Hialeah, in fertile soil reclaimed from the Everglades.

Acres of beans, potatoes, onions, peppers, tomatoes and other vegetables were ready for marketing in late December and will continue to supply carloads of produce for northern shipping throughout the winter months. When production is at its height, it is expected that 12,000 crates of potatoes will be dug weekly, 20,000 bunches of carrots ,besides many hampers of turnips, beets, eggplant, radishes, celery spinach, squash and cabbage.

Thirty tractors were used in plowing the land. Considerable assistance also was given by horses.

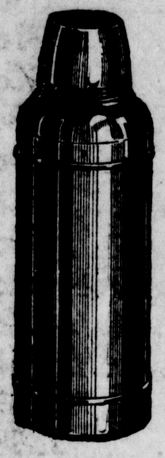

Perhaps the most important development of this immense truck farm is its demonstration of the success of the plan of water control. Farming in the Everglades is not entirely a question of drainage but also irrigations, and this problem has been solved by a series of pumps forcing water either on or off of the units into which the farm is divided.

MEAT PACKERS OF ARGENTINA HIT

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 3.—Demand for government control of the operations of meat packers in Argentina has been made in a memorandum addressed to the minister of agriculture by the Argentine Rural society.

The Argentine Rural society asserts that a "pool" has been formed by the principal interests in the meat trade in Argentina to maintain prices on the markets abroad, and says that if under the agreement recently reached the packers are allowed to limit or expand, their shipments in accordance with their own desires, their position in the local market will constitute a monopoly and at the same time an adverse factor where livestock breeders are concerned.

The Rural society asserts that the continued activity of the meat conference, with its monopoly, destroys the liberty to work and exploit any legal industry which the Argentine constitution guarantees, and that free competition having been eliminated, the guarantee of equitable prices of sale to the public also disappears. The Rural society states that in view of this the government should intervene in the matter.

According to the memorandum the government should intervene immediately in the operations of the packers with the sole object of ascertaining the development of their operations.

The Rural society further states that it does not contemplate the possibility of the state ,either by construction, purchase, or nationalization, entering directly into economic association with the industry as it is of the opinion that private enterprise is preferable to government exploitation. The society expresses the view that the law controlling the meat trade which was passed in 1928 contains important defects, among which is that suggesting a system of control exercised through the medium of a government office.

AND NOW—TELIVISION FOR YOUR HOME!

The first successful home television set is pictured here, along with Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, who developed it. Through its use, broadcasting of motion pictures along with ordinary musical or speech-making programs becomes possible.. The television apparatus is a simplification of the elaborate and costly devices used heretofore in laboratory experiments. First tests of it, demonstrating that home television reception now is feasible, were made at Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Alexanderson, consulting engineer for the Radio Corperation of America, and General Electric Co. officials were in charge. The television set converts ordinary electro-magnetic waves into light instead of sound, producing motion pictures which are seen through the small square aperture near the top of the phonograph-like cabinet in the right photo. The pictures are 1½ inches square as they form on a ground glass plate. Magnifying lenses enlarge them to 3 inches. The left photo shows the interior of the set.

U. S. SUPERIORITY COMPLEX ATTACKED

MANILA, Feb. 3.—America's "superiority complex" was assailed by Senator Jose P. Laurel in a speech here before the students' assembly of the College of Law of the University of the Philippines.

Given equal opportunity, the senator asserted, Orientals would prove superior to whites. He cited as proof of this the origin of Christianity in the east.

Separate schools in the Philippines for American children, which American residents here consider necessary to keep their children uncontaminated from the "bamboo English" spoken by many Filipinos, were attacked by the speaker on the ground that they are additional proof of racial superiority.

"When the Occident was in the darkness of ignorance and cannibalism, it needed the Orient to vitalize its life and give it a civilization and a religion," said Laurel.

Supporting the views of the senator, Dean Jorge Bocobo of the College of Law assailed foreign nations' practice in sending out missionaries. He declared they misrepresent Christ and preach a gospel which the powers which send them out do not practice.

"Love in a Mist" dramatic critics in New York declared Miss Rives thoroughly mistress of the difficult art of writing a play that carries the audience through the gamut of emotions, being alternately swept away in gales of laughter and then left wondering however she will free her heroine from the next gripping situation.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he has used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

TRY THIS FOR WHAT AILS YOU

POLITICAL LEADERS ASSERT NO CHANCE FOR CALIFORNIA TO GO DEMOCRATIC IN 1928

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Will California, long a Republican stronghold, now without a single Democratic county, "go Bourbon" at the 1828 presidential election?

Ask an Al Smith enthusiast and he'll answer positively, "Yes."

But query the coldly analytical statistician on the same question and he'll reply, "Not a chance!"

By "going Bourbon," however, the supporters of New York's celebrated governor wish to convey the thought that California will vote for the Bourbon that comes in bottles, rather than in party platform.

Even so, California will remain Republican and "dry," affirm the election statisticians.

Some of California's counties undoubtedly will "go Bourbon" in the event Governor Smith receives his party nomination, the state experts admit, but in the state at large a Smith victory just isn't in the cards, they contend.

And here's the analysis of the boys who gauge the future by the past:

On a straight party basis, California is three-to-one Republican, the G. O. P. majority in the last registration being 887,772. There are only three counties—Amador, Colusa and San Benito—in which the Democrats have a following that even approximates the Republican vote.

Again, on the "wet vs. dry" basis Al Smith would be defeated by 63,617 votes if he received all the "wet" ballots, both Republican and Democratic, and lost the "dry" vote in its entirety, as this figure represents the "dry" majority at the last election on the Wright act.

On a county basis, the election experts find 25 "wet" counties and 33 "dry," again using the Wright act totals. Of the 25 moist counties, 18 are "real wet"—sections that might go into the Bourbon column if the prohibition issue breaks down all party lines.

Staunch Smith supporters, notably C. K. McClatchy, of the Sacramento Bee, refuse to accept the vote on the Wright act referendum however, as indicative of public sentiment on the question of modification. McClatchy insists the Wright act test was merely a vote on enforcement of the law, rather than on the law itself.

But in the event you want to wager a bit on whether the state or individual counties will kick over the G. O. P. traces for Al Smith and light wines and beer, here is the state's "wet" and "dry" analysis of the Wright act referendum:

"WET COUNTIES — Alameda, Amador, Calaveras, Contra Costa, Del Notre, El Dorado, Humboldt, Inyo, Marin, Mariposa, Mendocino, Mono, Napa, Plumas, Sacramento, San Francisco, San Mateo, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Solano, Sonoma, Trinity, Tuolumne, Yuba.

"DRY" COUNTIES: — Alpine, Butte, Colusa, Fresno, Glenn, Imperial, Kern, Kings, Lake, Lassen, Los Angeles, Madera, Merced, Modoc, Monterey, Nevada, Orange, Placer, Riverside, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Stanislaus, Sutter, Tehama, Tulare, Ventura, Yolo.

Four Nightingales Go To Australia

SYDNEY, Feb. 3.—Four English nightingales, the first ever brought to the southern hemisphere, were recently released in the Auckland district of New Zealand, after assurances had been demanded by and given to farmers that they would in no way adversely affect agriculture.

The birds were the gift of David Garnett, an English author, to a New Zealander, Angus Wilson, and the experiment is being watched with the greatest interest by ornithologists in all parts of the world. Garnett's gift was inspired by the wish that the bird which has inspired so many English poets and writers may be induced to breed and sing in "alien woods." The birds were acquired through the Royal Zoological gardens, London, and every facility was given by the Canadian Pacific railway and the Canadian-Australian Royal Mail line for their transport across Canada and the Pacific ocean. They traveled in specially-made cages, and were fed daily on meal worms, and a mixture of ants' eggs and dried flies prepared by London Zoo officials. The C. P. R. arranged free passage for them across Canada, providing specially warmed compartments during the crossing over the Rockies. Coming across the Pacific, the birds sang a little, once waking the ship's butcher who cared for them.

Before release the nightingales were "ringed," as the opinion was held by London authorities that they might attempt to fly home to their beloved Surrey woods, the nightingale being the most "homesick" bird in the world.

ANTI-SNAKE BITE STATION PLANNED

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—A station for the collection of virus or the only known dependable snake bite remedy, will be in operation in New Orleans under the supervision of Percy Viosca jr., of the Louisiana Conservation Department, according to announcement of Dr. William Scheppegrell, of the American Snake Anti-Venom Institute.

The task of the southern branch of the association will be to collect some 15,000 snakes—rattlers, cottonmouths and other poisonous reptiles. During the spring and summer months experts will extract virus from them for distribution in southern states to be used in treating persons and livestock bitten by

The laboratory where the cirus extracting will be done is located at the Audubon zoo here and when the work starts the public will be permitted to look on while the reptiles are relieved of their poison. The extractions will be repeated every few weeks, it was said.

Glen Olden, on the outskirts of Philadelphia, is the headquarters of the association which has accomplished so much toward saving the lives of persons bitten by poisonous snakes.

In discussing the work of the snake bite institute, Dr. Scheppegrell said that 40,000 persons died in 1926 from snake bite. Of these, he said, 5000 were in America.

"With a sufficient amount of the serum the institute is confident of greatly reducing the number. We tity of the serum will be ready are hopeful that a sufficient quan- within a year to supply urgent needs."

More than $1,000,000 worth of livestock died from the bites of snakes in New Mexico and Texas during 1926, Dr. Scheppegrell said.

The average death rate among persons bitten by rattlesnake who are not where they can secure the anti-venim treatment is 35 percent, the doctor said.

State Of Bhopal Quits Prohibition

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Either some one is letting a fortune slip through his fingers or the Bhopal correspondent of the Indian News service is an optimist.

"From October, 1921," he writes, "the State of Bhopal has lost more than 300,000 rupees every year in its efforts to enforce prohibition, and at last has had to put a stop to this costly experiment. It was found that the Mohwa trees that abound in the state are tapped by those who desire alcoholic drink."

If this Mohwa tree is all that is thus claimed for it, and if it will function properly in the American climate, the "plant a tree" movement ought to boom exceedingly. But London horticulturists haven't any Mohwa trees in stock.

LAWSUIT HINGES ON ANCIENT FAITH

MILLERSBURG, O., Feb. 3.—An article of religious faith laid down in Holland more than 300 years ago, and held sacred by the followers of the Amish beliefs for many years in this country, has become the basis of a damage suit here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, member of the Amish Mennonites, who have made their homes in this section since they trekked from Pennsylvania a century ago, has brought court action against two Amish bishops who, she says, interpreted literally a clause in the doctrine which provides ex-communication as punishment for sins.

The ancient tenet stipulates that an erring brother shall be "mited" or ostracized by all his fellow men, not only in religious affairs, but in business and private life.

Mrs. Miller has asked the court for an injunction restraining the bishops from placing a ban against her, and also has asked $12,000 damages for suffering she says she has endured because of the alleged boycott.

The trouble started when Mrs. Miller married and joined the church of her husband. Her father, with whom she and her husband lived, remained faithful to the Amish church and was called upon to shun her. She does not state in her charges whether her family obeyed the commands of the bishops.

There is an element of tragedy in the efforts of the supporters of the ancient sect to uphold their principles, which are fast crumbling away or changing. Each year a few more of the younger generation shave their beards—an act strictly forbidden by the patriarchs of the faith—and move away to towns and cities.

Descendants of the disciples of Menno Simon—authors of the Confession of Faith, principal code of the Amish, are faced with this destruction of the old order of things and are driven to harsh measures in a last effort to prevent utter downfall of their religion in Ohio.

FORK, Feb. 3—The first ght heavyweight elimina- to provide an opponent for Tommy Loughran, pion, will take place in Square Garden tonight when Lee Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin," meets Mike McTigue, former 175-pound title holder, in a 10-round bout.

The light heavyweight title was within Lomski's very grasp less than a month ago when the Western terror knocked Loughran down twice in the first round of their bout, but Tommy got up and by masterful boxing, took the decision at the end of 15 rounds.

Lomski is bent on winning the 175-pound title and then entering the heavyweight division.

"After I beat McTigue and Slattery, I'll get Loughran in the ring again," he said. "I won't be so anxious then and I'll correct the mistakes I made the first time."

NATURE STUDY CLASS PLANS FOR MEETING

If by any chance rain should drive the birds and insects to their hiding places Saturday morning, College Nature Study students will find plenty of museum material in the laboratory," is the statement of Miss Daniel.

Through special arrangements with the ornithologoist at the Museum at Exposition Park in Los Angeles, unusually fine stuffed specimens of 40 birds have been borrowed. Among these are birds that are blue and birds that are yellow, birds that are large as gulls and birds that are tiny as hummers. No—they are not alive, but for identification, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." However Miss Daniel hopes for other fair Saturdays for out-of-door work.

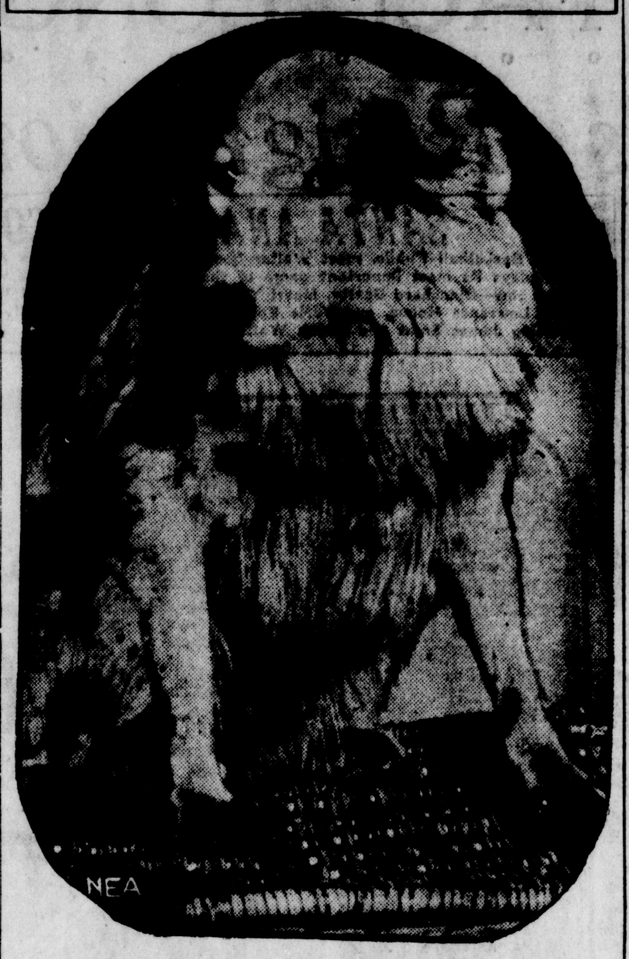

The first class meeting of College Nature study will be held from 8 to 11 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning in room 58 in the Science Building at Santa Ana polytechnic high school. The class is open to college students and other adults. There are no prerequisites and no previous registration is necessary. The course will include field and laboratory work in trees and flowers as well as birds and insects.

ADRIFT 56 HOURS ON ICE

When rescue of "Lady," a white collie dog adrift on a cake of ice in Lake St. Clair, near Detroit, seemed impossible because of a blizzard sweeping the lake, police shot at her in the effort to end the dog's suffering. But at the first shot, "Lady" scuttled behind a ridge in the ice floe. Shot after shot was sent toward the marooned dog, and it was finally believed she had been killed. After the weather had cleared a boat was taken out to the ice and "Lady" was found frozen tight in a crevice where she had hidden at the first shot. The dog was chopped from the ice and rescuers found she had suffered only a mild frost-bite in the pads of her hind feet. Upon being freed, "Lady" shook hands with her rescuers.

POLICE ASKED TO SEARCH FOR LOST FAMILY

Following a request received from Columbus, O., Santa Ana police are making a search for the family of the Rev. W. A. Mackey, who a number of years ago was reported to have resided at 1608 North Main street.

The Rev. Mackay is said to have died here in 1918, leaving a large family, including a widow, Mrs. Minnie Mackey.

The request for information regarding their whereabouts is sought by W. S. Mackay, a nephew residing at 163 West Eleventh avenue, Columbus, who wrote that he had herad from the Rev. Mackay in 1917 and that he gave the Santa Ana address at that time. He understood, according to the letter, that the Rev. Mackay died a year later.

Rev. Mackey was a Presbyterian minister and it is through members of the Presbyterian church here that police expect to find some trace of the family.

Find Old Stadium In Volcanic Area

HILO, Hawaii, T. H., Feb. 3.—High up in the volcanic mountains back of Hilo a semi-circular area resembling a modern stadium has just been discovered at the head of a lava flow possibly many centuries old.

The natural amphitheater has three entrances through solid walls of lava with seats for judges and spectators. It is believed here that the "stadium" was constructed by Hawaiians many generations ago and used for the staging of spear throwing contests, wrestling and dancing.

Even in semi-tropical Hawaii the mountains rising above the natural amphitheater are capped with snow. The all but obliterated trail to the spot is made over fields of lava. Many times discoverers of the ruin broke through the upper crust of lava and dropped waist deep into ash.

FOOTBALL ROW MADE 'SHORTY' READY TO QUIT

Fullerton Coach Has Great Record; Anxious to Get Post in Orange County

Stupid, outside influence was blamed today for the resignation of Stewart ("Shorty") Smith, well known Fullerton high school coach, who announced yesterday he would leave the Northern Orange county institution at the close of the present term.

Smith's action, not unexpected, was generally considered to be the aftermath of an unpleasant situation arising during the past football season, a situation which involved John Hawkins, former University of Southern California grid leader.

It was known here that Smith, who felt keenly the criticism that was verbally hurled at him after the Fullerton football team's "strike" on the eve of the titular contest with Bakersfield, was ready to retire as soon as he could do so gracefully. He was sick and tired of the petty bickerings at Fullerton but refused to retire under fire during the football season.

Has Three Offers

Smith already has three positions open to him, it is understood, and at least one of these is a lucrative Orange county post. "Shorty," however, is not as keen as he used to be about taking charge of football and it is said he would like to get a place, somewhere in the county, as a baseball coach and as a director of lightweight teams in other sports.

"Shorty" Smith

"I have been thinking the matter over deeply for some time," Smith said, "and feel that I am taking the right course. I will have been at Fullerton nine years at the end of the present term, and during that time my associations in the school have been generally pleasant, particularly so with Glenn Lewis, head of the physical education department, and Louis E. Plummer, principal."

During his nine years in Fullerton, Smith has made a remarkable record with the athletic teams under his direction. He has achieved a widespread reputation as a conditioner and members of his teams have reflected his ability in this respect.

Success in Basketball Too

Smith has been particularly successful in the past year, his Class B basketball team playing in the final game for the Southland championship last season and the baseball team, which he coached, winning Southern California honors for the second successive year. The football team last fall won the Southern California championship.

Smith's baseball teams have won the Orange county championship in eight of the nine years he has coached here. Two Southern California championships and one final game for the title in which Fullerton lost to San Bernardino, 3 to 2 in 1925, give further indication of his success as a coach.

For two years prior to coming to Fullerton, Smith was athletic coach at Santa Ana high school. He is a graduate of Occidental college and served a year and a half in the service during the World war.

PLANS FOR TWILIGHT LEAGUE BASEBALL TAKEN AT MEETING OF SANTA ANA ENTHUSIASTS

Concrete plans for Santa Ana's next Twilight league were made last night in the city council chambers of the city hall where a number of baseball enthusiasts assembled to pledge their support to the recreational movement. Seth Bullock was re-elected president of the circuit and Charles H. Berry was returned to the office of secretary-treasurer, the league lauding the efforts of these men in the promotion of the project.

Seven teams tentatively entered the league which probably will contain a membership of 10, it was stated. Games, to start at 6 p. m. daily, will begin about the middle of April.

The name of "The Recreational league" was officially adopted and it was understood that play will be for the purposes of the business, professional and working men of Santa Ana and vicinity. No night league or school boy players will be eligible.

A committee consisting of two managers and one outsider will be appointed by President Bullock to vote on eligible players.

F. G. Yoder was appointed to communicate with City Manager E. B. Collier relative to the acquisition of financial assistance for the loop.

The 12-inch ball was adopted.

Bartley Sims, last year's efficient and popular umpire, is understood to be available again this summer and the league will make overtures toward obtaining his services as head arbiter, it is understood. The application of F. H. Mitchell as umpire also was received and filed.

TWO ATHLETIC STARS LOST TO LOCAL COLLEGE

Two Santa Ana junior college basketball players, Harry ("Pop") Weaverling and William Kolkhorst, have been lost to Coach Walter Scott's team for the rest of the season, it was learned today when the disqualification of the cage players, by reason of low scholarship was announced.

Harry Weaverling

Both athletics, although not on the first string, were in the first rating on the reserve list.

Weaverling played center and Kolkhorst was a forward.

The loss of Weaverling to the track squad will be even more keenly felt for the former San Francisco boy was counted on to win the high jump and place in the broad jump in every meet scheduled for the Dons this season. Weaverling cleared 6 feet, 4 inches in the high jump while competing for a San Francisco Athletic club last spring.

He was an All-Conference tackle in junior college circles in 1927.

SANTA ANA 'B' FIVE CONQUERS GLENDALE TEAM

Coming from behind in the last quarter, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana high school Class B basketball squad took another Coast Preparatory league game yesterday, winning, 19 to 15, from the Glendale 130-pounders in Andrews gymnasium here.

Santa Ana led 6 to 2 at the end of the first period and 8 to 6 at the half but the Dynamiters came back strongly in the third quarter and swept into a 14 to 13 advantage only to fall before the local quintet's flourish in the last minute of battle.

"Swede" Williams, a replacement at forward, was responsible for the rally for his three field goals in the last analysis meant victory for his side. Sullivan and Brown also were important factors in the triumph.

Santa Ana's first string and Class C squads went to Glendale this afternoon for their regular league mixups with the Dynamiter crews of the same vintage.

The lineup:

| Santa Ana (19) | | (15) Glendale |
|---|---|---|
| Williams (6) | F | (3) Johns |
| Flanders (6) | F | (3) McCombs |
| Sullivan (4) | C | (6) Covington |
| Brown (2) | G | Wilkins |
| Beall (1) | G | (3) Robinson |

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Hall for Williams, Williams for Flanders, Flanders for Hall. Glendale—Cole for Wilkins.

Santa Ana 'Y' Volleyball Men Swamp Whittier

Making their second consecutive clean-sweep in Southern California league competition, Coach R. R. Russick's crack Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. volleyball team humbled Whittier, 5 to 0, here last night.

Scores were 15 to 4, 15 to 9, 15 to 10, 15 to 7 and 15 to 12.

Santa Ana is a topheavy favorite to repeat its success of last year when it reached the final round of the Southland title play.

TROJANS GET MANY OUTSIDE ATHLETES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—University of Southern California seems to be a magnet for brilliant track and field athletes. No less than 12 of this year's Trojan crop hail from out of the state.

The squad includes Vose Adams, Corvalis, Ore.; Charley Borah, Phillips Andover, Mass.; Weldon Draper, Fort Worth, Tex.; Wallace Frisbey, Aguilar, Colo.; David Goode, Olathe, Colo.; James Hussey, Weyers Cave, Va.; Willie Lewis, Pueblo, Colo.; William Livingston, Mercersburg Academy, Pa.; Jesse Mortensen, Gila, Ariz.; Francis Needham, Ashland, O.; Ernest Orn, Glenville, O. and Jim Stewart, Fort Worth, Tex.

Mack House Stops Lamson In First

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 3.—Mack House, Pasadena heavyweight, knocked out Indian George Lamson, of Portland, Ore., in the first round of a scheduled 10-round main event here last night.

Lamson was down for counts of seven, nine, eight and five before the knockout.

Berlenbach Says Jack Hasn't Quit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3.—Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight boxing champion, expressed the opinion here that Jack Dempsey has not retired permanently.

"I believe he'll be able to see a 'big gate' later on," Berlenbach said.

PELTZER EASILY RUNS AWAY FROM OPPONENTS IN FIRST APPEARANCE ON U. S. TRACK

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A new European champion—fourth in many successive years—has won fame on the boards of Madison Square Garden and a place in the esteem of American track and field fans.

Dr. Otto Peltzer, of Germany, whose first appearance in competition in the United States was so shrouded in red tape that the public well-nigh lost sight of the ability which made him a record holder at most of the middle distances, made that first appearance a memorable one last night by running away with the 1000-yard race at the Millrose games.

Against some of the strongest competition available in this country, the German champion running for the first time in competition on a board track, raced around his field and won handily in a driving finish reminiscent of days when he defeated Paavo Nurmi and the equally fleet Edvin Wide.

May Race Lloyd Hahn

Dr. Peltzer will be recognized here as the greatest threat to the United States in the middle distance runs at Amsterdam.

The German champion has yet to meet Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A., of course, but may do so, in a 1000-meters run at the Illinois A. C. games, in which he makes his next appearance February 19.

The German lived up to expectations, yet he did not run away with his race. At the finish he was a badly spent runner and he said today that he hoped his experience in this first start would enable him to do better another time. Peltzer was 3 4-5 seconds behind the world record for 1000 yards.

Running Appears Labored

A stride ill-suited to indoor running carried Peltzer around the narrow Garden track. At times his running appeared labored.

Certainly Peltzer brings to the track nothing of the smooth perfection characteristic of Paavo Nurmi. He runs more like Edvin Wide, the Swede, whose performances here last winter were so disappointing. Nevertheless Peltzer manages to cover the ground.

On his showing last night, however, Peltzer would stand little chance against Lloyd Hahn. The German may show considerable improvement, and if the two come together in Chicago next week, Peltzer may spring a surprise.

JUSTICE F IS FAVORITE IN BIG HANDICAP

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3—Justice F., one of the outstanding stars of this winter's racing, was a heavy favorite today to win the $50,000 added New Orleans Handicap.

The big crowd drawn here for this afternoon's feature at the fair grounds could see litle else among the dozen-odd probable starters and it was believed the English colt would be close to even money at post time.

William Daniel, of Chicago, owner of the English colt and Doc Riddle, his trainer, were confident.

The field presented none that looked better. E. B. McLean's speedy Jock seemed the contender, but Jock has not been racing and it would be quite a trick, in his first start of the year, to run over a horse with several good races under his belt.

Los Angeles Open Golf Dates Fixed

There are reasons to fear—al-

Maybe, however, it will be a

this year, averaging more than 12 points a game.

Santa Ana is not rated of equal strength with the Long Beach aggregation by Coach Scott. Because the Vikings did not have a team in the football league, the athletes there have been able to devote all their time to practicing for the basketball season.

During the last two weeks, Santa Ana has showed surprising strength, however, and Coach Scott said his team will give the visitors a battle. The strongest combination of the Santa Ana team will be utilized Coach Walter Scott announced.

This week the offense of the Santa Ana team has been drilled to overcome the strong Long Beach offense. Besides Ted Cook, either Faris Edgar or Mearl Youel, forwards, are to be able to start the offense plays through the variations that Coach Scott has devised.

Pet Alligator Will Be Returned

HILO, Hawaii, T. H., Feb. 3.—"Mama San," who is a five-foot alligator, will sail from Hilo for Japan upon the first available freighter going that way. "Mama San" will rejoin the Japanaese navy.

"Mama San" escaped from the Japanese cruiser Iwate early in December when the ship of war was anchored in Hilo harbor during the visit of the Japanese naval training squadron under command of Rear Admiral O. Nagano.

Japanese sailors and local police spent two days searching for "Mama San" but the search was fruitless and the Japanese training squadron sailed for Yokohama without its prize alligator. And for a month "Mama San" enjoyed the distinction of being the only alligator ever known to be at large in Hawaiian waters.

She was captured late in December at Honuano on the Kau coast, 100 miles southwest of Hilo. "Mama San" had to make a long swim to gain her temporary freedom and for the month she was at large few people on this island went bathing for fear of the snapping jaws of the escaped reptile.

"Mama San" now is kept in a strong box at Dr. Yoshimura's hospital here pending arrival of a freighter bound for Japan aboard which the alligator will travel as guest of honor. Prior to his departure Rear Admiral Nagano offered $250 for recapture of the coy "Mama San." But now that Admiral Nagano is back in Japan there is some doubt as to whether the reward for the alligator's capture will be paid.

"Mama San" appears to be greatly humiliated since she was caught in a lobster net.

SEES LOVE FADING IN FRENCH STORIES

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Remarking a growing tendency on the part of the younger French writers to eliminate love from their novels, or at least to give the "grande passion" an entirely subordinate role, H. Daniel Rops has made a study in an attempt to learn whether or not these writers really represent the ideas of the generation to which they belong. He asks, in other words, whether young France has not abandoned the domantic ideas of their forbears who had exalted love into a religion.

M. Rops agrees that there is much to support the idea that wine, woman and song cannot be considered any longer the ideal of the young Frenchman. His explanation is that the young men who were children when the war started saw too much of vivid reality, too much suffering, were thrust too early into the miseries and battles of existence to grow up like their fathers in the times of peace.

"Everything was topsy-turvy," he says. "Boys of 15 were the heads of families because their fathers and elder brothers were on the fighting line. These kids found themselves absolutely independent and they gave full play to their instincts, all the more because young fellows of 18 were expecting the call to the colors in a couple of years."

Now, the fathers of these boys see a generation entirely different from their own. In the years before the war the Frenchman married at the age of 30 or 40. He had to wait until that age to be in a position to take a wife. Today there are 25-year-old leaders of big business affairs, best sellers of 22, wealthy dramatists of 23, fathers of families before 30.

"Before the war," explained M. Rops, "the man who married was established. He had his tastes, habits, inclinations and his wife had to adapt herself as best she could. Today it is the young man who marries. He looks for a collaboratrice who will follow the same line as he intends to follow."

GODFREY MADE 6-5 FAVORITE OVER PAOLINO

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3—George Godfrey, the towering Negro heavyweight from Leiperville, Pa., who meets Paolino Uzcudon here February 28, was established a 6 to 5 favorite over the Basque today.

The odds were based on Godfrey's long string of victories on the Pacific Coast. However, the fact that some of these opponents were anything but top raters led to a reticence to make the margin heavy.

The Negro will have almost a week's advantage in training. He has settled into the routine grind at Soper's ranch at Ojai, where Jack Dempsey went into seclusion for his 1927 comeback attempt.

Godfrey will be joined there on Monday by Napoleon Jack Dorval, a heavyweight protege of Jack Kearns.

Uzcudun was due here Monday from Mexico City, where he knocked out Quintin Romero lost Sunday.

Intense interest in the bout pervaded the Mexican and Negro colonies here today. Thousands from both groups were expected to attend the bout and have reserved blocks of tickets.

Attempts have been made by theaters in the Negro section to sign Godfrey for a stage appearance before the bout, but Jim Dougherty, his manager, dismissed the offer with a curt "We're here to fight."

Plans were being made to have Jack Dempsey head the committee which will welcome Paolino. It was said that the Basque would be offered a theatrical contract by Spanish interests.

Thirty thousand tickets went on sale yesterday. Top prices were $5. The seating capacity at Wrigley field is 52,000 and it was thought that the demand would make it necessary to issue the 22,000 still unprinted.

LARGE LONDON SHOPS ROBBED BY U. S. CROOKS

By SYDNEY J. WILLIAMS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 3. — Scotland Yard's latest baffling problem concerns an epidemic of big store robberies. An American gang is suspected.

During recent months five of the leading establishments in the west end of London have been raided by expert cracksmen. It is estimated that $120,000 worth of jewelry and other goods have fallen into their hands. Scotland Yard can claim one capture.

Police officials believe it is the work of one gang, and are inclined to lay it at the door of an American master mind by reason of the expert and modern methods employed.

Another reason for their belief is the warning they received last year from police officials in the United States that a flock of American super-criminals were likely to invade Europe and that their pet hobby was expensive jewelry.

Scotland Yard's conviction became almost a certainty when a fashionable jewel store in Bond street, the heart of aristocratic London, was raided recently and $50,000 worth of gems extracted from a supposedly burglar-proof safe, despite the fact that the safe was in full view of the policemen patrolling the beat.

The most modern appliances were used. Acetylene blow-pipes were brought into play to prepare the safe for the steel cutters. Previously a hole had been made in the ceiling above to enable the thieves to lower themselves and their apparatus preparatory to operations.

Water was strewn on the floor to prevent an outbreak of fire from the heat of the blow-pipes. The job was done in a few hours. The cracksmen made use of the electric light burning about the safe for illumination purposes. Not a clew was left. The policeman who occasionally glanced in to see if everything was in order was innocent of what was happening. Scotland Yard is still hunting.

In three of the cases of big-store robberies—the thieves mingled with the customers during Saturday and then prior to the closing hour hid themselves in some convenient spot. They robbed the store at leisure during Sunday and escaped before business began Monday.

Acrobatics, eclipsing the feats of the renowned "cat" burglars, played a prominent part in the latest store robbery. Finding the floor on which they had hidden enclosed by locked doors and powerful steel shutters, the thieves knotted hosepipes and hung them down the parcels chute.

They then slid one by one down the dark spiral passage, ransacking floor by floor. For their escape to the street they utilized the same knotted hosepipes. Burglar alarms availed nothing.

Police officials declare these cracksmen set a new standard in burglary without noise or violence. They paid tribute in the manner in which the burglars swung themselves inside the building by means of the hosepipes.

Scotland Yard has put a large force of detectives to work on these cases.

SHIPPING AIDED BY FILIPINO MEASURE

By RANDALL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent

MANILA, Feb. 3.—The inter-island shipping monopoly in the Philippines has been broken and American shipping interests are now given a chance by signature of a bill designed to alter former shipping laws, in the opinion of informed observers.

To acting Governor-General E. A. Gilmore, who signed and previously supported this measure, the new situation is full of promise for both Filipino and American business people, he told the United Press.

"Our new inter-island shipping law seems to me a most important move toward the economic development of the Philippines," he declared. "It should go a long way toward stimulating many forms of enterprise and attracting new capital.

"The new law throws open all the inter-island ship runs to competition. Previously these runs have been restricted to certain firms. The new law abolishes the requirement of certificates of public convenience in inter-island shipping and limits the jurisdiction of the public utility commission to the fixing of maximum freight and passenger rates.

"Here in the Philippines we have reversed the ordinary procedure in regard to public utilities. Elsewhere there usually was unrestricted competitions at first, with subsequent regulation; here the regulation came first, and it is only now that we are moving toward a greater degree of competition."

Since past restrictive measures resulted only in confirming certain interests in monopoly with no incentive for service, inter-island shipping has been in the doldrums.

In many quarters it is believed that American capital will improve the situation in the near future. Large American firms can, if they wish, obtain Filipino registry for small inter-island vessels operating (under the new law) upon any desired run and acting as feeders for the major American-registry ships of the line.

EXPECT NEW FINDS IN OLD POMPEII

ROME, Feb. 3.—The year 1927 was notable in Italy from the archaeological point of view because of uncovering of the buried city of Herculaneum and the finding of the sepulchral marble on the site of the mausoleum of Augustus.

Pneumatic drills and picks and shovels of workmen began operations at Herculaneum in May. Nothing of great importance has been dug up so far nor were archaeological discoveries of first class importance expected during the initial period of the excavations.

Work is now well under way however, in the sister city of Pompeii and the first months of this year may be expected to yield further notable discoveries.

This long buried summer city of the wealthy Romans of imperial times is known to have been full of luxurious villas rich in sculpture, mosaics and precious objects.

The lost books of Livy and further texts of Sappho's perished odes are among the literary treasures which the more enthusiastic and optimistic archaeologists think may possibly come to light from the partician villas of Herculaneum.

Excavations are continually proceeding in the Naples district and the region of Campania. The Sibyl's grotto at Cumae has been more completely explored, and the temple of Jupiter on the hill above it has yielded, during 1927, a number of small statues and fragments which have been taken to the Naples National museum.

In Rome, the sepulchral block of marble bearing the names of Marcellus and Livia came to light in the course of excavations in the Augusteum concert-hall in Rome.

Both of these two persons, son-in-law and sister to the great Emperor, were among his favorites. It was probably by the Emperor's wish that their names were placed on the same funeral monument.

In Rome, the forum of Augustus was cleared of the squalid houses surrounding it and properly isolated. Work of a similar nature was begun on the Forum of Nerva, and is still proceeding. A new section of the Capitoline museum was opened to the public this year.

Civilization Of U. S. Held Menaced

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—The fall of American civilization similar to that of the ancient Roman empire—as the result of increasing materialism in this country—was declared a possibility by Dr. Jesse Steiner, professor of sociology at Tulane University, in a talk before a meeting of the New Orleans Vocational and Educational Guidance association.

"I say that our material civilization has made wonderful strides. There have been great inventions, great improvement in the material side of our life," said Dr. Steiner. "The rush and struggle for wealth has been increased, and in that rush we have failed to offset the conditions brought about by it.

'BAD BOY' RULERS OF AFRICA REFORM

KAMPALA, Uganda, Feb. 3.—The "bad boys" of British East Africa, four kings and a president, have decided to quit fighting and be friends.

For years the modern president of Busoga, who affects European clothes and wears a monocle, and the kings of Uganda, Ankoel Buyoro and Toro, have carried on guerrilla warfare among themselves.

But missionaries, their work constantly interrupted by private wars of the belligerent monarchs, finally have converted all five, and now the African rulers have become as staunch friends as they formerly were enemies. They even posed together amiably at a jubilee celebration attended by some 3000 of their followers to celebrate the attainment of amity.

This amount is considered remarkable in view of the fact that the business done in December last year reached $8837.17.

Unusual Barnacle Added By Newport Beach Collector

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 3.—F. R. Aldrich, noted shell collector of Newport Beach, has added an unusual specimen of lepus or gooseneck barnacle. The specimen was brought into Newport harbor by James Stevenson, local fisherman.

The specimen resembles a kelp baby and is about 10 feet long. Stevenson picked it up several miles off shore. The barnacle shells are fastened onto the kelp by a long neck and seem to have complete control of the neck, turning and twisting in all directions. Apparently the barnacles grow from the kelp as several small ones appeared to be forming.

SEAL BEACH VOTES MARCH 12 ON CITY HALL PROPOSITION, EXTENSION OF SEWER SYSTEM

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 3.—A city ordinance calling for the holding of a special election in Seal Beach March 12 for the purpose of voting city bonds for the purchase of a site and the erection of a city hall at a cost of $30,000, and the extension of the present sewer system to include East Seal Beach, was given a first reading at a meeting of the city council last night.

The resolution followed the adoption of resolution 149 at a former meeting. One of the stipulations of the ordinance as drawn is the requirement for a canvass of the votes by the city council at the meeting following the election, March 15.

The proposed sewer system will include a pumping plant and underground tank and will be covered by an additional $20,000 bond issue. A two-thirds vote is required to pass the bonds.

An election board was named and the polling place fixed as the city hall in Seal Beach.

Following a request submitted by Mrs. Ollie B. Padrick, city clerk, for an increase in the salary allowed and a change in the hours of service, a special meeting was called February 5 to consider this proposed increase.

A bid submitted by the Seal Beach Post and Wave for a contract for doing all public printing and advertising of the city of Seal Beach was held up pending an investigation of Section 4460 and 4463, political code, which requires that a newspaper accepting city printing must have been published within the city for at least a year preceding the date of publication and that 50 per cent of the actual work of printing is done within the city.

The question arose as to whether either the Seal Beach Post and Wave or the Seal Beach Journal could qualify according to these requirements.

The new ordinance was given to both papers for publication and was required to be posted also according to law.

A new ordinance dealing with the transportation and possession of liquor, presented by Burr B. Brown, city attorney, was held over for its first reading until the members of the city council could consider its rigid limitations and many requirements.

Action regarding the request of the flood control officials to be allowed to utilize Alamitos bay as an exit for the outfall sewer was held over until the attitude of Long Beach in regard to the proposed improvement could be ascertained.

A social center has been established in a room of the Lemon street school and prevention of diseases as well as health hygiene is taught. A sewing class has also been started with the proper making of children's garments as its primary object. Mrs. Carl Glasburn has charge of the work.

As the El Modena school belongs to the city council, a number of representatives were present, who explained the work being done in that place along Americanization lines.

The council approved a plan to furnish material for the sewing circle. They also approved a proposition that the parent-teacher organizations of the city should have study clubs to study parent-child relations. 'MARMON'

A New Stetson Shape

SPRING must be visiting Fourth Street. Else how account for the urge to see what Stetson surprises for Spring there are? The low-hung "Marmon," with its narrow band contrasting with Crystal, a light gray Aspin, a new green cast gray, and Ivory. It's a little heavier than a featherweight, but real summer weight. And it IS a surprise in its looks —you'll see!

THE "Marmon" shape in the Ten-Dollar class reveals itself in colors of Shell, a very delicate tan, Aspin, a green cast gray, Nugget and Silver Pearl. The narrow band is the same color as the hat. The effect is wholly new. You'll see your face in a setting different from any you've known. The "Marmon" is Stetson's first Spring surprise, and we know you'll like it.

Surprise Party Honors Harry M. Duckett On Birthday

Harry M. Duckett of Tustin was surprised last night when a group of friends gathered at his home for a party in honor of his birthday anniversary. The self-invited guests arrived just before the dinner hour, each one bringing some tempting dish with the result that a merry dinner party was soon under way.

After dinner, bridge was played. When scores were tallied it was found that Mrs. Joseph Metzgar had scored high for the women while William Ferry held high score for the men. Each received an attractive prize.

Mr. Duckett received many suitable gifts, the unwrapping of which was enjoyed by everyone present

Winter Visitors Plan Pleasant Courtesy For Miss Childs

Miss Minnie Childs, whose wedding to Perry E. Lewis of Tustin, will be an event of the near future, was complimented by a pretty little luncheon given early this week at St. Ann's Inn, by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green of Chicago, life-long friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Green have been spending the winter at Hotel Constance, Pasadena. They remained for a short visit and were guests of Miss Childs in her Tustin home on Wednesday, but have now left for Desert Inn at Palm Springs, where they plan to spend some time before returning to their Chicago home.

Many other pleasant events have been proposed for Miss Childs, but since her wedding will be such an early event, they have been deferred until the return from the honeymoon.

Business Women's Club

Business and Professional Women's club will meet Monday noon in St. Ann's Inn where they will have the privilege of hearing one of their own members, Alice Fessenden Peterson, who will talk on her recent stay in the Hawaian Islands. During her visit, Mrs. Peterson witnessed the impressive ceremony of the return to the last member of the old royal line, of a wonderful feathered cloak which had been in England many years, and which had been a royal possession. Mrs. Peterson has talked at the Congregational church and before an Ebell travel section since her return, and has the writer's ability to seize upon exceedingly interesting things to relate.

The program will be the first to be presented by the February committee, composed of Miss Doris Robbins, Miss Teresa McDonour, Mrs. Fredda Barger, Mrs. Ryan, and Mrs. Hannah Douglas. This committee will also take the lead in arranging the long-anticipated "Employers' dinner," at which each member of the club will entertain the head of the firm with which she is connected.

"COCK-A-DOODLE" POTTERY MADE BY ARTISTS

European peasants send these barnyard animals into the modern home: (1) Czecho-Slovakian iridescent pottery duck serves as a dressing boat; (2) Italy conceives two pre-historic horses in colorful pottery as ideal book ends; (3) A gaudy penguin with red wings, head and feet is really a decanter; (4) Breton peasants make a prancing Quimper ware horse into a candlestick; (5) a tan crackle ware owl, with unblinking black eyes, is the kind of pitcher children love.

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

Peasant pottery and glassware from France Italy and Czecho-Slovakia now comes to cheer the heart of the modern and add a touch of color to his contemporary furniture.

Amusing, useful and ornamental, these odd pieces of pottery look to mundane things for their inspiration and reflect a realism that is instinctive with the simple peasants who make them.

Unlike old pieces of pottery that sometimes were merely decorative and ornamental, these new gay additions serve a purpose.

Odd pitchers come in for their share of popularity. Candlesticks, flower bowls, holders for flowers in low bowls, book-ends, ash trays, sauce boats, and sugar and creamers all have their new interpretations, too.

Nature's Colors

Usually the peasants who make this pottery book no farther than their own barnyards for inspiration of their design. A strutting cock is quite as decorative to them as some intricately worked out imaginative animal or other design. And they see humor in the pets of their own back-yard. For none of these new pieces is without a certain amusing note.

As for color, the blue of Italy's skies, or the brown and green of Brittainy are as truly given as the gaudy Czecho-Slovakian reds and yellows.

Drawn with child-like simplicity, each design has an individual touch that adds its appeal. For the most part this new pottery is still hand-work, done at home, simply, by the mother and her children and the birds, beasts and houses sketched thereon, like as not, the very objects their eyes fall on as they glance up from their work.

From France come some delightful new additions to the ever-popular Quimper ware from Brittainy. The same little peasant's figures, in homespun clothes of brown,s grays, dark reds, greens and yellow appear. But in the new pieces, they assume different poses, bringing with them that amusing note that this nonchalant age demands.

For instance, there is the Quimper peasant candlestick, the same Breton figure posing with a holder on his head. He is a husky man, with gay polka-dotted skirt and striped trousers, the same peasant as of old, but with a new idea.

A Prancing Candlestick

For another candlestick holder, these peasants originate a grotesque little prancing horse in bright blues and yellows with a touch of that deep, pleasing red that their flowers give. They use their flowers and a few sprays of green to dress up the horse and very festive indeed is he, with a colored candle on his back!

Czecho-Slovakia goes in for pitchers and decanters in much of its new pottery and glassware. A new kind of crackled pottery and a novel flecked glass both suggest the feathers of fowls and are used appropriately to fashion owls, roosters, hens, ducks, and all kinds of birds that, when tipped, pour forth not song but food and drink.

One glass penquin decanter has gaudy red head, legs, wings and a roving gray eye. A crackled pottery owl pitcher has soft brownish beige body with a black handle and an unblinking black eye.

Italy shows its flair for imaginative interpretations of ordinary things in its new horse designs, some of which are used for book ends. A pair of pre-historic looking animals, with extravagant necks, stand as they might in conversational mood under a pasture tree and no book can slip by them. These are in gorgeous reds, blues and browns.

For Salad Dressing, a Duck

Another Italian contribution is the low duck salad dressing boat. No solid color is this useful little creature as he sits, apparently just floating along on a pond. He has the irridescent gleam of colors in blues, grays, greens and black that any duck has.

Each piece is distinctive. One is an addition to any table. A menagerie would be most useful and decorative in any home.

Films are to be used for political propaganda in Germany. The National party will, in the event of a general election, send out 400 travelling cinemas.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Aid Section Party

The home of Mrs. George Spencer, 113 Haliday street, was beautifully decorated with red hearts and bouquets of sweet peas and other spring blossoms, for the Valentine party of the southeast section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon.

After a short business session at which Mrs. J. E. Kellogg presided, several interesting guessing games were introduced. Mrs. Spencer gave two readings, "The Cute Little Hen" and "Myself." Mrs. E. F. Gaebe followed with a dialect reading, "Katrina's Visit to New York" and a short poem "The Lost Sheep." A post office had been fitted up and much amusement was afforded by the various valentines handed out by the postmistress, Mrs. J. W. Flagg, to the women as they called for their mail.

Refreshments of Washington pie, coffee and candy hearts were served by the committee consisting of Mrs. C. S. Kendall, Mrs. F. M. Horning, Mrs. R. J. Blee, Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. B. Anderson and Mrs. E. F. Gaebe.

Baptist Women

About 100 members of the Woman's society of First Baptist church met Wednesday for their all-day session.

At 12 o'clock Mrs. M. M. Holmes and her committee, in colonial costume served luncheon—the colonial day idea being carried out in table decorations of dainty costumed dolls, old-fashioned dishes, silver, etc.

Old-time songs were sung with Mrs. Elmer Steffenson as leader and Miss Haven as pianist. Several guests were introduced by Mrs. J. P. Greene.

After a brief business meeting at 1:15 o'clock, devotionals were led by Mrs. Wheeler. Ralph Smedley, Y. M. C. A. secretary, explained the work of the foreign department in the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Glenn Wilson of New York, was soloist for the day, her beautiful voice and singing being an inspiration to all.

Mrs. W. H. Harrison was the main speaker of the afternoon—her topic being "Christian Companions" dealing more with organizations that are helpful in Christian training of children. A pageant "An Adventure in Christian Companionship" was put on by the Girl Reserves, directed by Mrs. Hardin. The song for the year, "Others," and the "Mizpah" closed the day's splendid program.

Bridge Club Members Enjoy Valentine Party Plans

In entertaining P. A. U. E. club members yesterday, Mrs. J. I. Decker made her home at 2375 Greenleaf street, expressive of valentine day by a most artistic decorative scheme which was especially effective in appointments for her luncheon.

Places were found by means of red candy hearts on which the names were traced, the whole being concealed in ribbon-tied celophane baskets. Small candy hearts were fashioned into quaint nosegays for the center of each table, and at the conclusion of the luncheon, the member of each group whose birthday came nearest to valentine day, received a nosegay. Even the three-course menu emphasized the effect, especially the heart-moulded ice cream with its flying cupids.

Bridge in the afternoon was an enjoyable interval and especially so for Mrs. A. A. Mandy, Mrs. Thomas Gisler and Mrs. Herbert Carter, who received first, second and guest prizes respectively.

Mrs. Carter was the one guest sharing the pleasant afternoon with P. A. U. E. members, the hostess, Mrs. Decker, and Mesdames J. L. Robertson, A. A. Mandy, Frank Brigante, A. P. Trawick, Kenneth Horton, Benjamin Livesey, Thomas Gisler, R. W. Weston, A. Hall and Miss Ann Robertson.

Finders Seek Owner Of Cameo Brooch

Since social functions seem to carry in their train, the thought of flowers and jewels and kindred dress accessories, it seems fitting to tell among the stories of parties and festivities, the tale of a lost bit of jewelry, a handsome old cameo brooch, such as countless happy owners treasure as family heirlooms.

It was just about holiday time, that Robert Witmer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, found a cameo brooch just within the door of the public office of the company, 201 East Fifth street. He took the brooch to the office, and immediately Earl Morrow, district manager, placed advertisements in the Register in the hope of reaching the rightful owner. But the quaintly beautiful old pin still remains unclaimed. It has several distinguishing features which would make it easy to identify. Anyone knowing its ownership, may get in touch with Mr. Morrow at 741.

SMALL SCARFS

New fox scarfs are small—usually one skin that is no longer than will comfortably go around the shoulders and meet in front.

SMART JABOTS

Jabots are in their heydey. A crimson and black one-piece frock has double jabots on the blouse and skirt section.

HOSIERY COLOR

Dark sunburnt stockings are the latest thing in hosiery. Palm Beach and its fad for deep sunburnt faces inspired the color.

BENT CANDLES

Candles that have become twisted with heat should be laid in a warm place until they are softened, then straightened and put in the icebox.

1000-YEAR OLD SUIT IS REVIVED

ROME, Feb. 3.—The first 1000 years of a lawsuit are the hardest, according to a case now pending before the Naples civil courts which has a chance of being settled after 936 years.

The case dates from the year 1002. In the year 999 the entire Christian world was coming to an end, in accordance with Apochryphal prophecy, which considered the number 1000 an ominous symbol and spoke always of millenniums. All men of Naples at that time accordingly looked to the safety of their souls.

Now, between Salerno and Naples is a mountain rich in forests and pasture land. The owners of the mountain waited till December, 999, and then, judging the signs inauspicious for the continuance of the world and wishing to fortify their chances on the hereafter, they deeded the entire hill to the convent of Saint-Trifone.

When the year 1000 passed without cataclysmic disturbance, either material or spiritual, they waited two years for good measure and then filed suit in the courts, reclaiming possession of the hill on ground of equity.

Since that time the legal battle has been handed down by heirs of the original owners from generation to generation. Thousands of processes have been filed and the case has been before innumerable judges. At present it has come into th hands of the communes of Lettere and Ravello, which, tracing their right to ownership to the original donors, have reopened the fight for the possession. Historic briefs are being reviewed and the convent of Saint-Trifone is forced to defend its title.

Among the lost property found in London's underground railways during the last year were 20,000 pairs of gloves, 12,000 umbrellas and 5000 walking sticks.

Theaters and movie houses of New York have 1,500,000 patrons daily. There are 208 theaters and 580 movie houses with a seating capacity of 858,978.

THE TINYMITES
STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

The woodsman trimmed the wheels up slick. With his big knife, this was no trick. "I want them so they'll carry you along real nice," said he. The Tinies thought it quite a lark to help him strip the rugged bark. When they had finished all the wehels were round as they could be.

"Now get the box," the woodsman cried. "I'll nail the wheels upon its side. We'll shortly have a wagon that will carry all of you." "Oh, fine!" he heard the Tinies cheer. And then they brought the box up near. The woodsman brought a hammer forth and said, "I'll soon be through."

The Tinies held the box just right, and soon the wheels were nailed on tight. They set it up and pushed it, and it rolled along the ground. Then Clowny said, "I'd like to know how we are going to make it go. We're all too small to pull it, so some new way must be found."

The woodsman was a real smart man. Said he, "I think I have a plan so all of you can ride at once. What do you think of that!" "Just wonderful!" the Tinies cried, "'Cause that's the way we like to ride." The thought so tickled Coppy that he jumped and waved his hat.

Get me two sticks, 'bout four feet long," the woodsman said. "Be sure they're strong. I'll nail them on like wagon tongues, and then we'll hitch my hound. He is a mere dog but, of course, he'll be as good as any horse. He's strong and very kind, so I am sure he'll pull you 'round."

The sticks were found right near at hand and Mister Woodsman said, "They're grand." And, in about a minute they were hammered into place. The dog was hitched and safely tied. "All right, jump in," the woodsman cried. "As soon as you are ready my old dog will set the pace."

LUNCHEON — Vegetable soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, canned pears, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked flank steak, scalloped potatoes, buttered cauliflower, French endive with Roquefort cheese dressing, canned cherry pie, milk, coffee.

Baked Flank Steak

Two tablespoons fine sifted cracker crumbs sprinkled evenly over the bottom of the pie crust before adding the cherries will insure a delightfully thickened juice and an unsoaked shell when the pie is served. Any soda cracker can be used. If a small six-inch pie is made, 1 tablespoon crumbs is sufficient.

Two pounds flank steak, 2 sweet green peppers, 1-2 large Spanish onion, 2 springs parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 2 cups canned tomatoes.

Remove membrane from steak and trim neatly. Grease a dripping pan a little larger than the steak with beef suet. Remove seeds from pepper and parboil five minutes. Plunge into cold water and rub off thin coating. Remove seeds and pith and mince flesh. Mince onion and parsley. Rub tomatoes through a coarse sieve to remove seeds. Mix salt, pepper, sugar and mustard and rub thoroughly into meat. Add minced vegetables to strained tomatoes. Heat dripping pan very hot and lay meat in it. Pour over tomato mixture, cover pan and bake one hour in a moderately hot oven.

Beauty Chats

By ANN ALYSIS

The ordinary dentifrice, whether it be powder, paste or liquid, is essentially a cleansing preparation. The ingredients which it contains are put there primarily for the purpose of beautifying the teeth by removing film and dirt. With the assistance of vigorous brushing, the soap and chalk or pumice stone or other polishing material will clean and scour off most of these impurities.

Occasionally, the mouth becomes acid, that is, the secretions such as the saliva, become acid. The teeth, which are composed largely of alkaline substances, when acted upon by acids, are likely to decay in such a manner as to destroy them. In order to prevent this decay, an alkaline element, such as magnesia or chalk, incorporated into the dentifrice will act as an antidote to the mouth acids.

There is always an advantage in using mild antiseptics and as most dentifrices contain antiseptic flavoring oils you are almost sure to receive this mild medication in any dentifrice you select.

AT THE THEATER

WEST COAST-WALKER

Amid the flood of new productions, superspectacles, would-be epics and the like that have appeared on the screen this season, "My Best Girl," Mary Pickford's new comedy romance of the 5 and 10-cent stores, comes as a welcome relief.

The picture, now playing at the West Coast-Walker theater can best be described by that bromidic adjective, "delightful," in the fullest sense of the word. Unlike so many recent film dramas, "My Best Girl" makes no attempt at pretentiousness, nor at imposing (and hollow) magnificence. It is purely a simple, human, absorbing story of a shy little girl employe in a "nickel-and-dime" store, who falls in love with the son of the millionaire owner of the establishment.

The tricks employed in most current productions to build up audience interest through artificial means are entirely absent in "My Best Girl." There is no "heavy" unless the bootlegger can be called so, and he is more of a deus ex machina than a menace. The mere interweaving of the characters and their hopes and aspirations produces a tremendously effective suspense, without the necessity of factitious expedients.

WEST END THEATER

Tonight will witness the final performances of the wonder dog, Ranger, in "The Swift Shadow," which has been playing at the West End theater.

Based on the tale of a dog who answers to two masters, "The Swift Shadow" has attracted considerable attention because of the tenseness of its drama and the unusual opportunity it presents for Ranger to display the personality that has made him famous.

The picture is said to abound in thrills, romance and adventure which keep the spectator on the edge of his seat from start to the final fade out.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

The most beautiful senery ever used in a western picture is to be seen in "The Rawhide Kid," Hoot Gibson's latest starring vehicle which comes to the Yost Broadway tonight.

The entire Gibson company consisting of the cast and technicians made a location trip to Zion National Park, Utah, where practically the entire picture was filmed.

The picturesque mountains and the wide-uncultivated prairies of Utah were used extensively for the exterior scenes of the picture and many of the most beautiful night scenes were procured for this picture. The extraordinary twilight effect was photographed without the usual assistance of artificial light and it is thought to be the best ever taken of this particular location.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

A story of Irish love and crooked politics is the theme on which the play, "Where The River Shannon Flows," is based. This is being presented by Murphy's Comedians at Orana this week. Charles Booth and Miss Maryedetta Green carry leads. Herbert M. Shelley and Billy Evans are two Jewish crooks. Others in the cast include Miss Mercedes Lowerie, Kenneth Price, Austa Pierce and George Mathison.

CORN MEAL CLEANER

To brighten carpets and rugs, corn meal dampened with just enough kerosene to soften is excellent. Sprinkle it over liberally and then sweep.

DRUSE CHIEF MAY SUBMIT TO FRENCH

BY JOHN O'BRIEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—If Soltan-el-Attrach, who led the Druse tribes against the French in Syria and fled into exile after the fall of his capital, wants to make real, lasting peace with the nation to which the League of Nations confided the mandate over Syria, he will find France willing to listen to his plea.

Some newspapers, in France as well as in England, have protested against what they called France's weakness in letting the Druse leader escape with his life after his overwhelming defeat by General Gamelin's troops in 1926. The same newspapers assert that Soltan-el-Attrach is getting ready to start a new revolt in Syria.

The United Press learned from semi-official sources that, in reality, Soltan-el-Attrach is at the end of his tether, is absolutely without money or friends and wants nothing more than permission to return to his native mountains and live his last days there in peace.

Soltan-el-Attrach was last heard of in the Nejd, a desert country east of Palestine, which is under British protection. The Druse chief threw himself at the feet of Emir Abdullah, ruler of the Nejd, and begged him to give his hospitality but the Emir replied he could do no more than transmit the request to the British high commissioner. It is understood here that the French resident general in Syria, Auguste Henri Ponsot, believes liberal treatment of Soltan-el-Attrach by the French would end all menace of trouble to the Druse country.

It is not certain that France would permit Soltan-el-Attrach to return to Syria, preferring that he remain under British surveillance, but he might take up his residence at Gaza, in Palestine, and receive his income from the Druse region where he has large property interests.

One thing is essential, however, Soltan-el-Attrach must make full submission and ask for "aman," or pardon, just as Abd-el-Krim did in Morocco when he saw the French and Spanish armies closing in around his troops.

THINK of all the great factories at Pittsburgh, Pa., and yet the 29,226 acres occupied by that city is only about a fourth the area of the productive properties occupied by Dunlop.

Great size proves great quality, Dunlop could never have grown to its present magnitude unless its tires had given outstanding value.

Greater size makes possible greater quality. Dunlop today is making far better tires than in all the 39 years since John Boyd Dunlop founded the pneumatic tire industry.

QUITS RAILROAD AFTER 55 YEARS

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Feb. 3.—Thomas E. McDonald, who has retired to his home here at the age of 70, after 55 years of railroading, recalls the days when he was afraid to leave his locomotive to flag trains between Gary's site and Chicago because of wolves.

The last position held by McDonald was superintendent of motive power for the Pennsylvania railroad, western lines. A few days ago he turned the key in the lock of his office door at Chicago, ending a colorful career as a railroad man.

With great pride, McDonald recalls that he was the engineer of three trains on which presidents were passengers. They were Grover Cleveland, William McKinley and Benjamin Harrison.

"I drove the fastest train in the world—the old Pennsylvania Limited—on its first trip into New York. The schedule wasn't to be sneezed at then either. It was a 24-hour train and I always brought it in on time," McDonald said.

McDonald said he drove his first train when he was 16 years old. It was a wood burner which had to stop every nine miles or so and "wood-up."

"We carried our rules on the back of our time cards. They were what we called half-way posts, where the rule was that the train that got there first had to back up and wait 35 minutes for the later train to pass."

The veteran railroader told how he used to beat the other train to the halfway posts. Then he told how he often crawled out on the cowcatcher of his train and held his coat over the headlight so the approaching train couldn't see him. In this manner he always won the right-of-way and the other train always had to back up.

"When I first began to run into Chicago, you couldn't have given me the territory between Thirty-fifth street and the Loop. I wouldn't have paid taxes on it. As for South Chicago, it was a swamp. You could sail a boat on it anywhere. The only competition the lake had out that way was one lonely beer garden."

COMPANIONATE PLAN OF MARRIAGE HIT

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Companionate divorce is like having your face lifted—it is patronized because it is considered chic,—says Miss Viola Tree, noted English actress, daughter of Sir Herbert and Lady Beerbohm Tree.

"There is a good word of Italian slang for a folly, or a pose, or an affectation—'stupidagine.' It seems to me to have been carried out completely in the companionate divorce idea," she declared recently in an article.

"How silly. The trial system would surely be better and less immoral, a sort of hire-purchase system of 'If you don't like us, or cannot pay for us, the goods can be returned to our show rooms.'

"The only excuse surely for divorce and there is no real excuse, is that both people fall in love with someone else. That is the only crushing reason, crushing to all argument of dogma.

"It seems to me that divorce which is not inevitable to body and soul is quite foolish and utterly selfish and extravagant, and people that can bear the sight of one another or that are separated by leagues of sea surely need not trouble with it. But to go through it all and then live in the same house because the husband wants his cup of tea made in a certain way which no other woman can do (for I don't imagine any man staying anywhere where he did not love except for creature comfort), that is surely the scandal without the advantage.

"I should imagine with companionate divorce that life would be one series of squabbles, or of cutting one another on the stairs. The intimacy which is the basis of all marriage and which softens and humbles and makes one laugh being absent, what an impossible life for children and servants alike.

"I can only think that such a scheme will be patronized because it is chic. Like having one's face lifted, or an operation for appendicitis, or being photographed standing on one's head, which is the latest recreation of 'our betters'."

The women are said to be as efficient at their unusual task as are the masculine bricklayers. Two other Liverpool women fish for a living, the report revealed.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 4.—A safety director who refuses to "have his head punched off" for $50, is the pride of this city.

Sulzmann previously announced he would pay Spence $50 for the bout.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomachs no longer trouble them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 3.—T. W. Gregory, United States attorney general in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, believes the Coolidge administration's Nicaraguan policy will be one of the chief obstacles for the Republicans candidate in the 1928 race.

He expects corruption and the tariff question to be other issues and insists "of course, the League of Nations issue is not dead, no matter what may be said."

TRUCK HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

COSTA MESA, Feb. 3.—Two important steps in the developing of a truck highway from Fullerton to the Newport Harbor district were reported here today by the road committee of the chamber of commerce. The two new developments concern improvements at each end of the proposed truck highway.

Petitions were placed in circulation here this week asking county supervisors to pave Fairview avenue from Fairview to the Talbert road. The cost of the work is not estimated in the petition. There is approximately a mile of road to be paved in this section, it is reported by the committee. The road is now a good oil street.

The improvement of North street in Anaheim from the boundary line of that city to Ball road is another improvement on the proposed truck highway, it is alleged, by the local committee. North street in Anaheim corresponds with the highway and will be a part of the street when the connecting length is finally made between the two, it is reported.

Citizens of the Costa Mesa district have been working for the past several years to secure the opening of a truck highway from Fullerton to Costa Mesa. The road would be a direct route from northern Orange county to the seashore

MELLETT CASE IS SET FOR LISBON, O.

LISBON, O., Feb. 3.—This Columbiana county town next month will furnish the background on which will be painted the last scene of the now famous Don R. Mellett murder case.

Scorned by her sister cities of East Liverpool and Wellsville, because of her old fashioned serenity and failure to keep apace with the times Lisbon soon may attract national attention as prosecutors and defense lawyers fight over the guilt or innocence of former Police Chief Seranus A. Lengel, of Canton, as one of the murderers of the former Canton editor.

In the old stage-coach days Lisbon was an important stop. Many of the now existing homes then gave heed to the familiar sound of horn and harness, as the stages drew up.

But motor cars and the railroads have since had their day and Lisbon as a stage point has fallen somewhat behind the times—so say neighboring city folk of Columbiana county as they haltingly make their way to the county seat of Lisbon to have the justice administered.

Now, after many years of this quiet and nonchalance, Lisbon is dusting the doorknobs and putting out the welcome sign, preparatory to meeting and greeting the city visitors attracted here for the trial.

Decision to hold the new Lengel trial here came when Common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Diehl, of Canton, allowed the former police chief's motion for a change of venue after the Ohio supreme court granted him a new trial by overruling the conviction of the Stark county common pleas court.

NEW CHURCH IS TO BE STARTED IN FEW WEEKS

COSTA MESA, Feb. 3.—Work on the new church to be constructed here in the near future will probably start within the next two months, it was announced here today by the Rev. Lyman R. Bayard, pastor. The building committee of the church today reported a total of $18,200 in the building fund. More than $1345 was raised during a drive staged in the past few days.

Plans for the starting of work on the building are to be laid at a joint meeting of the building and finance committees of the church in the near future. A preliminary hearing was held at the church last week.

The Rev. Lyman R. Bayard, pastor of the church recently inaugurated a $10 campaign in the community. The church at that time had approximately $16,000 in its building fund. The Rev. Jerry Carol of this city has purchased a lot on Fairview avenue from W. Wakefield, of Salina, Kansas, it was reported today. Miss Mackenzie concluded the sale. Carol plans to build on the property it is reported.

MAIL, PASSENGER AIR TRAVEL GAINS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—Citizens are turning steadily to the use of the air both for mail and passenger transportation, according to statistics released today by the Pacific Air Transport company, operator of planes between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

Heavy increase in the amount of air mail carried and even greater gain in passengers was reported for each of the six month periods during the past 18 months.

Air mail poundage for the last six months of 1927 was 44,922 compared to 31,420 pounds for the first six months of the year and the 19,645 pounds for the last six months of 1926.

During the year 1927, the company's planes carried 1252 passengers. Only 318 were transported in the first six months and 33 were carried during the final six months of 1926.

Police Always Return Badge 13

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 3.—San Diego police authorities have discovered a system under which a spare badge, loaned to an officer who had forgotten to bring his own when on duty, is always returned.

Badge No. 13 is never issued to any officer permanently but is used as a spare. Although the "brave lads in blue" may not be superstittious, they never fail to return it.

The local fire department has never duplicated badge No. 13 since it was lost by Al Labia, garageman, after he had asked for it in 1908, officials said.

Fire station No. 13, La Jolla, was commissioned October 13, 1913, but despite predictions there has never been a serious catastrophe in La Jolla.

France To Form Night Air Mail After U. S. Plan

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Night air mail service is planned in France, patterned after the American and German systems.

Eleven diverging lines from Paris to all parts of the country would be cut by four-transverse lines. A letter would reach almost any village overnight, as the intersecting air lines would connect and mail would reach principal railroad points before the departure of secondary trains to smal towns.

Le Bourget Air field, where Lindbergh landed, would be the postal and aerial center. Air postage, it is calculated, need be only double ordinary rates for letters to make the venture self-supporting.

Air field equipment and air lane lights could be obtained from Germany under the Dawes plan reparations.

BEEF

It is true that cattle are a trifle higher than they have been for several years, but fortunately for the consuming public of Southern California the price paid for beef here is considerably lower than anywhere in the United States. The retail prices of beef in this vicinity have not been raised in proportion to the prices paid in eastern markets. The prices of all pork cuts, smoked meats, lard and compound have been very materially reduced. The economical housewife will include these different products in a variated menu, which will result in a cheaper meat bill than before the beef prices were where they are. Our specials consist of cuts that will prove an economy to the thrifty housewife of Santa Ana.

sect Survey In South Seas, Plan

ONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 3.—Naforests and native flora are shing from the South sea isles with them are vanishing also lads of species of insects. With their passing science is losing an opportunity to add to its knowledge.

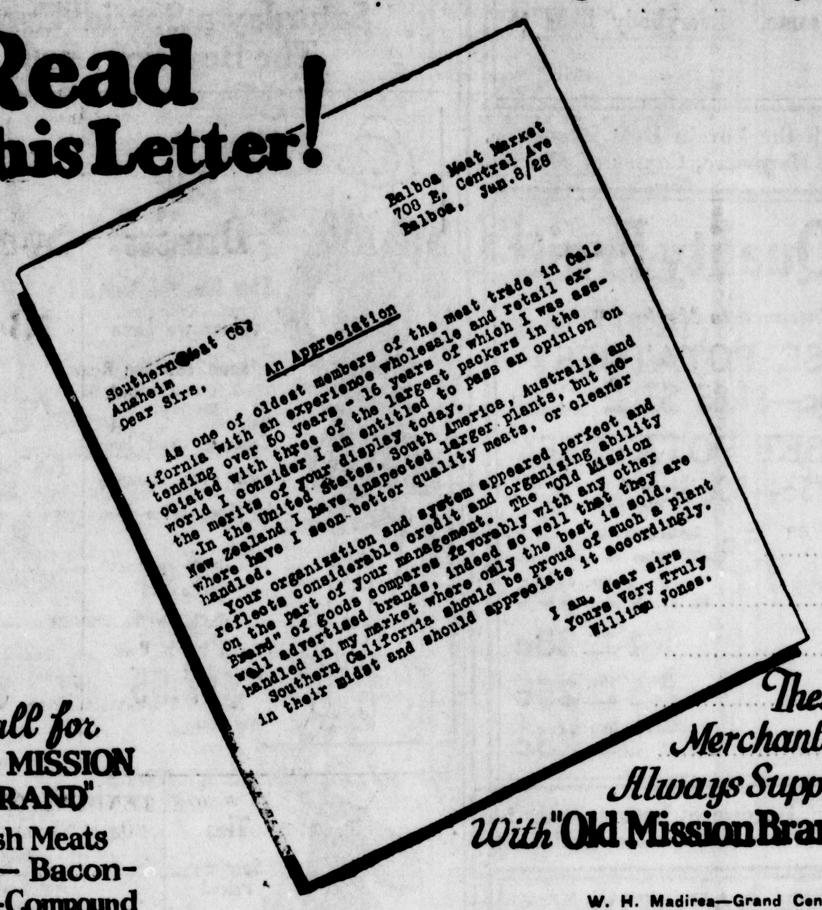

To prevent this possibility an entomological survey of the Pacific islands is to be made, beginning in May, under the auspices of the Bishop museum and the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association.

These two organizations have guaranteed a sum of $62,500 to be expended in furtherance of the plan which is to be distributed over a period ranging to 1931.

I. Philpott Mumford, noted English entomologist now conducting special research work in California, has been engaged for the field position. He will come to Honolulu in May and after several months here will go to the Marquesas to initiate the survey. While it is hoped that information will be gained on insects and their parasites which will be of value to industry in Hawaii and elsewhere ,yet the search will be distinctly general and in the interests of science, it is explained.

Dear Sirs,

An Appreciation

As one of oldest members of the meat trade in California with an experience wholesale and retail extending over 50 years - 16 years of which I was associated with three of the largest packers in the world I consider I am entitled to pass an opinion on the merits of your display today. In the United States, South America, Australia and New Zealand I have inspected larger plants, but nowhere have I seen better quality meats, or cleaner handled.

Your organization and system appeared perfect and reflects considerable credit and organizing ability on the part of your management. The "Old Mission Brand" of goods compares favorably with any other well advertised brands, indeed so well that they handled in my market where only the best is sold. Southern California should be proud of such a plant in their midst and should appreciate it accordingly.

I am, dear sirs

LOCAL SCHOOLS SOON WILL USE NEW TEXT BOOK

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—In another month or so, elementary school pupils of Santa Ana will be studying their civics lessons from a new book. It is called "How We Govern" and was written by Frederic P. Woellner, associate professor of education, University of California at Los Angeles.

The new volume, just off the press at the California state printing office, has been accepted by the state board of education as the official text explaining California's new system of state government under the reorganization effected by Governor C. C. Young's administration during the last legislature.

Printing presses at the state printing office are still grinding on the new civics book, according to State Printer Caroll H. Smith, who says they are being bound and delivered at the rate of 5400 a day.

The first consignment of 40,000 books promised to the board of education by February 1, was completed eight days ahead of schedule. The first edition will total 125,000.

"California has set the educational pace for the United States," Woellner says in his chapter on educational opportunities in this state. "For many years the Russell Sage foundation has made a complete report of education in the 48 states. Each year it has always rated the school system of California as the best or next to the best in the union."

The reorganized state government is considered by the author in a chapter entitled "What the appointive officers of California must do." Here he lists the functions of the nine state departments, of finance, agriculture, public works social welfare, institutions, industrial relations, natural resources, education and public health.

Reference is made to the constitutional amendment upon which the voters of California will pass at the general election November 8. This law will, if adopted, he says, "Make the selection of director of education the duty of a board of education corresponding in many ways to the regents of a university."

This statement is held to be significant in view of the recent suggestion by William John Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction, that the offices of director and superintendent should be separated, with one man in charge of each.

Orchard, Cider Industry Given Boost In Britain

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 3.—Determined to become an independent cider-producing country, England is planting new orchards and reviving old ones.

The result may have a depressive influence on American apple exports. Professor Barker, director of the National Cider Research station at Long Ashton, says "it is absurd to send abroad large sums yearly to buy thousands of tons of cider fruit and millions of gallons of cider."

Due somewhat to the limitation in quantity of beer produced during the war and the depreciation of its quality ,cider has gained popularity as a beverage in England.

The pillars of St. Paul's cathedral, London, into which cement has been injected, are now believed to be stronger than solid stone.

SENATOR BORAH COMES TO AID OF U. S. FARMS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—California growers who ship perishable agricultural commodities to other states or foreign countries, will receive every possible protection if senate bill No. 1294, introduced by Senator Borah, Idaho, is adopted by the U. S. Senate.

The bill will receive the undivided support of the California department of agriculture, it was announced by Wells A. Sherman, chief of the division of markets, who said that the measure was designed to suppress unfair and fraudulent practices in the marketing of perishable agricultural produce in interstate and foreign commerce.

The bill provides for a license of dealers, commission merchants, and brokers dealing in produce, similar to that of California law. Not more than $500 for each offense and not more than $25 for each day the broker is without license, will be the penalty for violation of the bonding and license law.

The proposed law will make it "unlawful for any commission merchant to make any fraudulent charges for service in respect of any perishable agricultural commodity received in interstate or foreign commerce:

"For any dealer to reject without reasonable cause any perishable agricultural commodity received in interstate or foreign commerce by such dealer:

"For any dealer to reject without reasonable cause any perishable agricultural commodity bought or contracted for in interstate or foreign commerce by such dealer:

"For any dealer to discard, dump or destroy without reasonable cause, any perishable agricultural commodity received by the commission merchant, or bought or contracted for by such a dealer.

"For any dealer to make any fraudulent or misleading statement concerning the condition, quality, quantity or disposition of, or the condition of the market for, any perishable agricultural commodity which is received in interstate or foreign commerce by such commission merchant:

"For any merchant to fail or refuse to account promptly for any transaction in any perishable agricultural commodity to the person with whom the transaction is made."

L. A. HARBOR TRADE VOLUME INCREASES

LO SANGELES, eb. 3.—Volume of trade through Los Angeles harbor in 1927 was $25,000,000 greater than in 1926, according to figures released by the chamber of commerce. The total value of harbor commerce, domestic and foreign, amounted to $888,527,000 for 1927, according to the report, while in 1926 the aggregate was $863,096,000.

PRISON WOMEN MAKING FLAGS IN SPARE TIME

BY ESTO BROUGHTON
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—

The Star-Spangled Banner,
Oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave."

So sang a war prisoner, Francis Scott Key years ago as he watched "the rockets red glare and the bombs bursting in air" during the war of 1812; watched "to see if the flag was still there."

And today civil prisoners in the western land of freedom are making this same "Star-Spangled Banner" to fly over the homes of the brave while their own home is only a niche behind windows. What Price Glory!

Betsy Ross created the flag in freedom and dedicated it to the cause of liberty but California's hundred Betsy Ross's of the present day are women convicts stitching the stars and stripes together as part of a prison labor stint. No ardent patriotism inspires their fingers as it did their Philadelphia countrywoman. They are but dulled souls in prison stripped blue denim sewing bunting stripes together.

The idle women inmates of San Quentin were put to work this month making flags following a conference held at the prison by Warden James Holohan, James Johnston, head of the crime commission and former warden, Mrs. Ernest Wallace, chairman of the women's prison site commission, and the officials of the department of social welfare. As a result of this meeting flag making was transferred from the men's prison factory to the new women's cell block according to Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, director of the welfare department.

The blue field may fit into the blue mood of some of the feminine felons who have broken the rules of the game in the "land of liberty," but on the whole the work has proved a star of hope to most of the women in Mrs. Saylor's opinion.

Not one of the women feels that the thirteen bars of red and white are so many more prison bars in the penitentiary system, she declares, but actually thirteen lucky chances for life and liberty.

It is the first step to include the women convicts in the new administration policy of giving the prisoners a chance to literally work out their own salvation. The prison road camps have proved such an effective compensation, that Bert B. Meek, director of the state department of public works, and former prison director is advocating a small pay for work on the Folsom rock crusher, which furnishes material for highway construction.

The prison-made flags will finally fly over the school houses of the state, Mrs. Saylor announced, since most of the state output is purchased by school districts and public organizations and does not find its way into the ordinary channels of trade.

Among the possible prison industries suggested by state officials is that of the manufacture of automobile license plates. Approximately three million pairs of these are required annuallly, amounting to a train load. With next to the largest auto registration of any state in the Union this would offer a profitable prison employment, Meek claimed. Already the state of Minnesota is making her license plates in her penitentiaries and Pennsylvania is considering it as a practical possibility, the state official announced.

PRISONERS PARDONED

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The list of prisoners pardoned in Prussia under the amnesty granted in connection with President von Hindenburg's 80th birthday was completed just before Christmas. It contained over 12,000 names, and arrangements were made in a large number of cases for release to take effect during the holiday. Similar arrangements were made in other German states.

HITE COLLAR OBS SOUGHT Y H. S. PUPILS

n evident lack of knowledge of ous occupations and an ignor- of employment opportunities in occupational selections among high school students shows that there is need of a formal consideration of the vocational guidance problem in the schools, according to George B. Holmes, head of the commercial department at the Santa Ana high school, and H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia E. Lathrop junior high school.

Holmes and Nelson have just completed a survey made with the purpose of working out a solution of the vocational guidance problem.

Eight hundred and four questionnaires were filled out by high school students.

Ninety-eight occupations were chosen from the list of 117 offered for the students' choice.

The five occupations chosen by boys most frequently in order of their popularity were aviation, farming, school teaching, music and law. The girls chose school teaching, clerical work, nursing, music, commercial art and interior decoration.

Figures compiled from this group of questions and compared with the U. S. census figures showed that while only 5 per cent of the citizens in this country are in the professional group, 58 per cent of the students at the high school expect to take work up in this line.

Although farmers in the United States equal 26 per cent of the population, only 6 per cent of the students in the high school plan an agricultural career. Seven per cent of the students acknowledged their interest in mechanical trades while 30 per cent of the U. S. citizens are in this trade.

Nelson pointed out that these figures show a marked trend towards white collar jobs.

He continued that 112 students had chosen their occupations because they had always wanted to go in for that type of work while 154 had made their choice little over a year ago and 139 had decided on their life's work within the past few months.

A study of the occupations of the students' parents was also taken up. This study showed that while 103 different occupations were represented the majority dealt with mechanical trades, 23 per cent; business activities, 27 per cent; agriculture, 16 per cent, and professional work, 11 per cent.

VACATIONS IN MARRIED LIFE ARE APPROVED

By CLEM WHITAKER
Staff Correspondent, Santa Ana Register

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—"In and after the second year of the joint life of the contracting parties, they shall, circumstances permitting, separate for a period of not less than———weeks, nor more than———months, during which time each shall honestly endeavor to reconstitute his or her own individuality."

Yes you're right.

And state officials, for the most part, stand ready to say "I do" to the new marriage vow.

Except for a few dissenters, whose wives read the newspapers, state officialdom favors a vacation from domestic ties of at least two weeks yearly, a statehouse symposium showed today.

"Join the guard and solve your marriage problems" declares Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt, commander of the California National Guard, in endorsing the vacation compact. National guardsmen, Mittelstaedt points out, seldom have marital difficulties because they have a two weeks' vacation at the guard encampments, where wives dare not trespass.

State Forester M. B. Pratt points with pride to the fact that no member of the California forest service has been divorced since he took command years ago. And he attributes their unusual domestic harmony to the fact that friend wife must stay at home when duty calls the ranger to the fire lines. After days and nights on "the front," the forest fire fighters are contented hubbies at home, Pratt affirms.

Here are expressions of opinion from other Capitol notables on the new plan to cheat the Reno divorce mill:

L. E. Ross, chief of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics: "Marital vacations offer the sane way out of domestic discord. Small irritations, and petty differences fade away during a separation of two or three weeks and both parties would return to the fireside with greater love and respect for their mate."

W. B. Rider, acting director of state parks:—"Guardians of California parks do not require marriage vacations, in my opinion, but this is due to the fact that they have joined the back-to-nature movement. Who can consider divorce while camping in a great grove of redwoods? Adam and Eve may have had their difficulties, but we haven't any record of a divorce in the Garden of Eden. For most couples, though, the plan is ideal."

State Controller Ray Riley:—"If a woman knows when she's well off, she'll frown on long separations. Nor will she "go home to mother" for two or three months and leave hubby alone. But a short rest from each other, not more than two weeks, probably, would do the average couple good."

Tombstones Free To U. S. Veterans

WASHINGTON, eb. 3.—"Hey buddy! Wanta tombstone?"

If you're a United States veteran—doughboy, gob or leatherneck—you have a tombstone coming from your Uncle Sam. Unlike adjusted compensation, you do not have to wait; just die and arrange for your heirs to make proper application to official channels and presto a tombstone will be shipped absolutely free of charge.

They are nice tombstones, too. The quartermaster general, to whom applications should be made, says they are cut from marble and engraved with the full name of the veteran, rank, regiment, division, state and date of death.

ORIENT WILL GET PEARS FROM STATE

LAKEPORT, Calif., Feb. 3.—The Orient as an unlimited market for Lake county's famous Bartlett pears and possibly other California fruits was forecast here by L. J. Annette, local manager of the Pioneer Fruit company.

The new market will be developed this year as a result of experimental shipments of pears during the past season.

In seeking wider fields of distribution for the fruits, the Pioneer company secured the cooperation of the Kerr Steamship company, of New York, in making experimental shipments to Manila, Singapore, Batavia, Shanghai, and other far eastern centers.

The steamship Silver Bell of the Kerr line was equipped with specially designed cold blasts, circulating refrigeration chambers from which the pears, fresh from the orchards of Lake county, were placed in September and delivered to distant parts in perfect condition.

As testimonials, Annette showed members of the Lake County Pear Growers' association photographs and statements from various points of distribution. The fruits, according to Annette, were enthusiastically received and sold at high rates.

The cost of transportation, handling and distribution in the Oriental centers, according to the manager, was on a par with similar costs on the Atlantic seaboard and in the central midwest distribution centers, which have provided the principal available market for the fruits.

Tired people . . .

DO MANY women, so many men, can't last through the day. Even mid-afternoon finds them listless and spent. Hopelessly tired.

What a difference it would mean if they but realized how constipation saps health and energy. How it steals youth. Mocks beauty. Kills ambition. How it leads in the end to untold diseases.

And it can be so easily relieved. So surely and safely prevented. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve it promptly and pleasantly. To prevent it ever beginning its sadly work.

Why "all-bran" is necessary

To relieve constipation naturally, the system must have plenty of bulk. ALL-BRAN, because it is 100% bran, furnishes bulk in generous quantity. It carries moisture through the intestines—exercising them, gently sweeping out poisons and wastes. There is seldom enough bulk to properly do this work in a part-bran product. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN — the 100% bran.

Farewell, dangerous drugs

How much better is ALL-BRAN than habit-forming pills and laxatives — whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a pleasant, healthful cereal food. Don't you agree that it is far safer and far better to correct constipation in this natural way than to risk pills, drugs or part-bran products?

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Sprinkle it into soups. Mix it with other cereals. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

But insist on genuine Kellogg's. Don't risk part-bran substitutes. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants. On dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

422 ARRESTED IN SANTA ANA DURING MONTH

A total of 422 persons were arrested in Santa Ana by Santa Ana police officers during the month of January. The number is the largest in the history of the department, it is believed.

The large number of arrests is due to the drive against persons who fail to observe the one and two-hour parking laws, however, and not because of any crime wave in the city during the past month.

Chief of Police Rogers ordered a strict observance of the parking laws last month and as a result 306 persons received taks of arrest. Eight were arrested for violation of state traffic laws, bringing this total to 314.

There were only 45 arrests on misdemeanor charges in January, as compared with 73 for December. Only six persons were arrested for being drunk in January, while there were 25 arested on this charge during December. In both January and December there were 27 men arrested for vagrancy.

City Motorcycle Officer B. A. Hershey, working alone during the moth, was kept busy. He arrested 44 persons in January, as compared with 21 in December. Of this number 22 were arrested for speeding as compared with 13 in December. The other violations were for operating a machine without a license, making unnecessary noise, failure to observe boulevard stops and like offenses.

There were only eight persons arrested during the month on charges too severe to be handled by the city court. Two were for grand theft, two for sale of liquor, two for fictitious checks and two for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

There were seven juveniles taken into custody during the month, four of which were runaway boys.

During January there were 11 automobiles reported stolen, nine of which have been recovered. In December there were seven cars stolen and seven recovered.

There were a total of 17 bicycles reported stolen during January, the largest number in a single month in a year or more and of these, only three have been found. In December there were four bicycles stolen and one recovered.

The monthly report, just completed by Sergeant Barnard will be filed with the city board next Monday night.

SAVAGES TORTURE SUSPECTED POINTER

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 3.—A small band of Australian aborigines, suspecting the dreaded "bone-pointing" curse, surprised him, and after knocking him senseless, cut pieces of flesh from his back from his shoulder to his hip-bone.

The power exerted by a "bone-pointer" over his tribesman is immense. It amounts to a curse, from which the victim, overweighed by the enormity of the evil that he believes the ceremony to bring upon him, pines away and dies. The bone used by such a medicine man is generally some part of the human body. The nearest explanation that white men have of the curse is that auto-suggestion is responsible for the death of him at whom the bone has been pointed.

The tribe concerned in the latest example of this primitive fetish, lived on Palm Island, off the North Queensland mainland. It was believed by the natives that one of their number, Tommy Burketown, has acquired the reputation of a medicine man, and that if he "pointed a bone" at an enemy, the later would die within six hours. When one of the natives died suddenly his father swore vengeance on the medicine man, believing him to have been responsible for his son's death.

Tommy Burketown was lured away from the camp, and the father and several other natives fell upon him. He was then taken to a gully, and there the assailants commenced an age-old tribal practice of butchering him alive. Strips of flesh from the shoulder to the hip bone were cut from the medicine man's body. Meantime, word had been sent across to the mainland concerning the affray. Detectives rushed across to Palm island in a swift motor boat and surprised the natives, interrupting their savage ritual.

SHEIKS SPURN PLANES, AUTOS

Airplanes and automobiles failed to impress a party of real sheiks when they recently visited a small town in the Soudan, but a staircase aroused their veneration. They were familiar with trees growing in groups, but they could explain the shade-givers being in rows only through the trees being able to walk. Water faucets amazed them, for to turn a screw and see water rushing out of a wall seemed magic to them. They bought a number of the "rods of Moses" from a junk dealer to hang on their walls at home to spurt water for them. When their error was explained the dealer took back the faucets, but later each sheik stealthily repurchased them so that he "would not be cheated out of the white man's magic."

SUNDAY GOLF STARTS TROUBLE

Playing of golf on Sunday by members of a North Wales club has started what is evidently a series of clashes over Sabbath observance laws in Wales. After being mobbed for three successive Sundays as they went out to play, the golfers have issued summonses against a number of the crowd. Their enemies, however, say the players have no legal rights, for the Lord's Day Observance Act of Charles II has never been repealed, and there are similar laws still in existence, which, if enforced, would reduce the weekly rest day to a period of hardship and misery beyond the imagination of the modern youth. At Barmouth, Wales, the proprietor and customers of a cafe were arrested for being in the place on Sunday. At Pwllheli, Wales, members of the Liverpool Motor club were summoned for holding a Sunday afternoon hill climb.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Today's market gave an impressive demonstration of inherent strength in recovering part of the heavy losses of the opening dealings.

Toward the close some pressure was apparent as traders became nervous over the report on brokerage loans by the New York stock exchange.

Recoveries on the stock market in several cases sent prices well above the previous closing levels in some instances setting new high records for the year.

Leaders were inclined to remain quiet while special issues furnished the activity of the day.

Dealings were on a considerable expanded scale.

THE REVIVAL OF LANGUAGE

Side by side with the movement for a universal language, Espagnol, there is a remarkable revival of languages. There are many intense internationalists who would not oppose the elimination, were that possible, of the various languages. Language is undoubtedly a barrier to understanding, one nationality of another, but it is not a serious barrier. Frequent contact easily overcomes that barrier. The people of Europe who are constantly thrown together, those in nations engaged in commerce and those people along the border lines, speak several languages, and certainly their culture is improved thereby. Everyone in Holland, of whatever class, speaks three languages and many speak several more. A nation should have an individuality and its language is a part of its individuality.

One who has made the slightest study of another language than his own comes to appreciate the meaningful phrases of another language, the pregnant words which, were it possible for him to use them and be understood, would give a fine shade of meaning to his intercourse and would be a distinct aid to self-expression.

In order to appreciate and understand the individuality of our friends we must know them, we must be familiar with their hobbies, with their labors, with their interests, with all those things wherein they differ from other people.

Similarly, in order to fully appreciate people of another nation it is well to know their language, to appreciate their inflections, to be cognizant of the full purport of the words they use. The answer to the barrier of language is not fewer languages but greater familiarity with more languages. By the one method the individuality of a nation and people is lost, by the other it is comprehensively retained.

The preservation of this individuality of nations through their language deserves full support. Nothing is gained by uniformity.

The educational institutions of Wales have adopted a course for the extension of Welsh speech to daily life. There is probably no other people as proud of their tongue as are the Welsh. They retell with pride that Welsh was the language of aristocracy and continued to be so until some time after the accession of Henry VII. Welsh is not merely the chief language or dialect among a group of related languages or dialects, but it forms the only storehouse of the immemorial traditions of the British tongue. The language withstood the Roman conquestion, the Dark Ages, the advent of the Normans, and the hostility of the Tudor sovereigns.

Close to the contest in Wales for the preservation of the Welsh language is the similar effort being put forth in Ireland for the revival of the Gaelic language which was recalled to our attention by the arrival in this country the other day of George W. Russell, well-known as the poet "AE," who has been active in the movement for the revival of that language which he calls the "fountain head of Irish initiative and creativeness." The mother tongue is now being taught in all Irish schools and Mr. Russell predicts a great renaissance of Irish culture in the next generation. Most arguments for the preservation of the Welsh tongue would also hold for the Gaelic, except possibly that the latter is a revival rather than a preservation, having almost died out before the revival some fifteen years ago. But if the revival of the language is going to encourage the creation of more of the charming plays, fairy tales, and other pieces of literature such as those which have already come forth from the revival in Ireland, we would say it certainly should be encouraged, even though we might have to study Gaelic in order to understand the Irish creations. Their quality would make it worth the effort, should it reach the point where Irish literature were produced only in Gaelic.

HITCHING WAGONS TO STARS

A Florida man is laying plans for the construction of a giant rocket, in which he hopes to be shot from the earth to the planet Venus.

This is altogether a laudable ambition, even though reports thus far published fail to state just what he expects to do after he gets there or how he thinks he is going to get back. A great many of us, at one time or another, have wanted very must to go sailing off to a distant star.

Indeed, you might say that the yearning to do that is every man's heritage. This is especially true in youth. There are times, particularly when one is young and easily hurt, when the breaking of illusions is so painful that this earth seems rather a makeshift planet, at best, and the unattainable stars shine very invitingly.

This spirit, too, is very valuable. It propels men in all manner of ways and into all manner of pursuits. It causes some to write poetry, to paint pictures, to compose music; it leads others into paths of industrial success, turning them into powerful men of money; it sends still others into public life, making senators, judges or presidents of them.

For no one ever rose very far without first becoming dissatisfied with his surroundings. The desire to leap to the farthest star must, of necessity, remain ungratified, unless perchance the Florida man should find his rocket unexpectedly practical; but in his vain efforts to gratify his desires a man will, sometimes in spite of himself, do good service for himself and his times.

So perhaps it will be just as well if this big rocket proves a dud. If it should be perfected the earth would suffer too great an exodus. Not one of us but would, at some time or other, try his luck on another planet in preference to this one. But, lacking rockets, we stay here and do the best we can—and, unconsciously, make this earth a better place to live.

THE REBUKE OF THE ADMIRALS

Some of our rear admirals are not as much in the [illegible] they should be. Here is one of them who [illegible] saying in a public address that war between the United States and Great Britain is liable [illegible]

[illegible] more likely than another to [illegible] it is just such loose [illegible] these our line would then if it was right to punish peace talk in war time, why does it not follow that men should be punished for war talk in peace time. It is ruinous to the spirit of good will to be talking about war. It was just such talk by Bernhardi of Germany and J. A. Cramb in England that started the alienation of Germany and Britain and led ultimately to the World war.

There are those in this country, and among them are some of these rear admirals, who are crying out for a navy to beat Britain's navy, as if Britain's navy was ever a menace to us. A competition in navy increase between the United States and Great Britain would be positively the most dangerous project which we could enter upon. It would surely lead to strained relations between the two powers. And when strained relations exist, it requires only a fool move of some rear admiral or some jingo statesman, to upset the peace of the whole world.

Fortunately, the president condemned such loose talk in a recent warning. The particular rear admiral was not mentioned by name, but he knew that the president was talking to him. Fortunately, too, the people of the United States are not a military people. Every movement on the part of the government which looks toward imperialism or toward aggression raises a tremendous protest in every part of the country. The people of this country do not want war. They will not be dictated to by the military branch of the government. They have always, and they will always, keep the military in subordination to the civil authority.

Perhaps there is no greater evidence of the spirit of peace and good will in the hearts of the American people than the immediate reaction which comes when someone engages in such loose talk as that of the rear admiral in question.

We Need More Real Homes

Redlands Facts

The cure of crime doesn't necessarily rest with the courts. Nor with the schools. Nor with the churches.

Where then? Perhaps with the family, which lies behind and underneath, those three great institutions.

"Crime would be practically abolished," says Dr. Frank Bohn, "if we could bring up one generation of young folks in real homes."

Can the family do it? Alarmists say the family itself is going to pieces.

The family is the oldest of all institutions. It has its own weaknesses and perils. It is going through a very difficult time. But any form of human organization that has endured since long before the dawn of civilization may reasonably be expected to last a while longer. Particularly as it is rooted in the very nature of things. While the race lives, there will be fathers and mothers and children, and the natural ties that bind them, and their urge and need of close association.

The main trouble now is adjusting the family to the new individual freedom which has come into the world, through changing social and economic conditions.

The old, stern discipline will seldom work any more. Children must be recognized not merely as parts of a family, but as individual human beings, with minds and souls and hearts of their own.

The family ideal is each for all and all for each. When the family is a real unit of parents and children who feel that they belong together, and who do not merely eat and sleep in a house, but carry on all kinds of joint activities there in pleasant co-operation; when the boys and girls can bring their friends there for a clean, happy time; and when their parents and their parents' friends set them a proper example—well, then criminals are not so likely to come out of those homes.

It looks as if the main thing today were simply to create real homes, where families are held together by bonds of common interest and affection. There are many such homes, but there might be more.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

BANG

The baby had been prepared for his afternoon nap. Comfortably snuggled in his basket, an expression of angelic peace upon his face, he drowzed off to sleep. Mother gave a sigh of relief and tiptoed toward the kitchen where dishes and vegetables and groceries and a host of like details were making loud calls for attention. Baby had been cross all morning. You know what that means in terms of the housework.

"He'll sleep for a couple of hours now, and I'll catch up." With one hand mother turned on the hot water faucet and pushed the dishpan into place with the other.

Bang! ! !

The big front door of the apartment house went to with a slam that echoed through the house like the report of a cannon.

"Ah-ow-wow-wow, wow," cried the startled baby. Red in the face, hands clenched and thrashing the air, feet working like a pair of piston rods gone mad, he protested against this violence.

"There, there, there," soothed mother. "There, there, there now. Never mind, never mind. Sleepy, sleepy, sleepy." But no sleep came. Louder and louder grew the cries until weak and exhausted the baby lay on his pillows, crying fretfully, twitching, starting up to cry aloud in fright as sleep threatened to claim him.

"I don't know what ails him, doctor. He has been like that off and on these past few days. Today worse than ever."

"When did this begin? What started him today?"

"He was fretful all morning and I had just succeeded in getting him to sleep when the front door slammed. It made a terrible noise and of course he woke up. From then on he's been crying and acting as you see him."

"Small wonder. A loud sharp noise like that frightens a baby about as severely as it is possible to frighten him. Why in the world don't you have a silencer put on the door? A banging door is enough to drive grownups off their balance much less an infant. When a noise like that splits the air it gives the child a shock like that of a blow in the pit of his stomach. And scares him almost to death. Don't allow another day to pass without silencing that door.

"It will take a few days of quiet to calm the baby. Light diet, shaded room, quiet. And more quiet, if you can get it. Shameful to scare a baby to death like that. You can't depend upon busy people to watch doors. They're thinking about other things. Get a door silencer and you'll see the baby will be all right."

It isn't doors alone. How many times a day is there a loud crash somewhere in the house? Somebody lets the dishpan fall. The delivery man dumps a box of weighty groceries with a crash. Then goes out and slams the door. The coal man sends a couple of tons of coal down the chute. A huckster bawls suddenly under the window. Flat wheeled cars lurch along with nerve wracking clatter. The day is full of ugly noises.

Noise hurts babies.

More Truth Than Poetry

ALWAYS BE KIND TO ANIMALS

The furtive coyote was ruthlessly slain
For his habit of making a meal,
When the snow drove him in from the winter swept plain,
On tender young mutton and veal.
With rifles and shot guns they drove him away,
They followed wherever he fled,
And the farmers declared: "Raisin' stock ought to pay
Now that all of them varmints is dead."

But as soon as the final coyote expired,
The rabbits and gophers and such
Which had hitherto daily discreetly retired
To coyote-proof burrow and hutch,
Unafraid of the fangs that once scared them away,
In millions appeared on the scene—
And, recruiting their myriad ranks every day
They ate the whole country side clean.

The ranchman now stares with a sorrowing eye
At the fields where the crops used to stand,
While the sunlight beats down from the warm summer sky
Upon nothing at all but bare land.
No corn in the silo, his heart to rejoice,
No brown crackling hay in the stack,
And he says with a mournful and penitent voice
"Gosh, I wish them coyotes was back."

And possibly you, when, as gathers the gloom
And the night wind dies down to a breath,
With a vicious and open-hand wallop you doom
Some luckless mosquito to death—
And smile as you sit there and look at him squirm,
Will say with a sorrowful sigh,
"I have slain the devourer of some wicked germ
Which is sure to get me by and by!"

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

Wishing

Parents usually tell their children that it is foolish to wish for things.

Proverbs have dealt with wishes since they were first made out of compounded human experience.

Most of them condemn wishing pretty savagely.

But remember that if you never wish for anything, you seldom get it.

Also if you wish for something hard enough, you have a far better chance of getting it than you would if you had never wished for it.

If you would ask any successful man what he hoped to be when he was a boy—what place in the world he wished for, he would more than likely name the place in the world he holds.

People cannot always be what they want to be; yet if they want to be some particular kind of a person, and keep on wanting, day in and out, they are likely to wake up some time and find that their wish has been granted.

Napoleon, for example began wishing, as a boy, to be a soldier.

He may have dreamed of being a great soldier—but that was only a dream.

What he did wish to be was an officer, a sub lieutenant at first.

He thought about that more earnestly than about anything else—and while he was still a boy he became one.

Chance has something to do with the fulfillment of future wishes. It has something to do with the outcome of all human ambition.

But because the Corsican concentrated all his thoughts on achieving his desires, he reduced the chances against him, and increased those in his favor.

I believe that parents, instead of telling children that wishing is idle, ought to encourage them to wish for some place in life that is worth having, and to wish long and earnestly for it.

Even as children, most boys and girls have something in view they would like to be.

I admit that it is too often a movie actor or actress, or perhaps the leader of a jass band.

But better that than nothing. For successful movie actors and successful jass band leaders fill a necessary part in the world.

Fortunately for the rank and file of youngsters both jobs require some decided natural capacity, which is rare, so those who are unfitted are soon discouraged and turn to something else.

But, if you have anything to do with piloting their careers, encourage them to wish, and to wish hard enough so they will work to make their dreams come true.

They will soon discover, if they are in earnest, that just wishing is not enough.

They must work, and sacrifice, and concentrate and keep at it for a long time.

But given a little natural capacity, they will succeed in becoming what they want to be oftener than they can ever succeed in something their parents happen to want them to be.

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

TRAINING

I have recently received from Nicholas Ricciardi, state commissioner of vocational education at Sacramento, a pamphlet entitled, "Joining Hands to Produce Efficient Workers."

There are many suggestive ideas in this pamphlet.

One idea that stands out is that there are not many people working at jobs for which they are fitted.

Secretary Hoover is quoted as saying that out of every three workers who claim to be efficient journeymen only one can qualify, and that out of every six workers who claim to be experts only one actually proves to be so.

There is one type of worker that is gradually being crowded out in the advance of civilization and that is the man who works with his hands alone. Machinery is more and more doing the work of the hand-laborer and to run machinery takes brains and training.

Therefore the most important subject before the community is the proper training of its workers, as a trained worker is a much more valuable citizen than an untrained one.

The civilizations of the past were based upon ignorant human labor, mere bestial strength. It was that which built the pyramids and raised most of the other monuments of antiquity.

The fabric of our present-day progress is based upon mind.

There is no more importa question before the commun than in fitting the round man the round hole and not putting square peg in a round hole.

I have received several lett recently from people who are d satisfied with their conditions work and complain of the diffic ty of finding work.

But most everybody is look for the trained man.

What does training mean?

According to Mr. Ricciar pamphlet an individual has fundamental capacities.

There is his mental capacity his ability to acquire, digest apply ideas.

His physical capacity means good health and his power to dure.

His moral capacity means t he discharges his duties accord to approved ethical standards knows what is right and wr and lives up to his knowledge.

His co-operative capacity me his tolerance for the opinions others, his ability to work in h mony with his associates and disposition to be loyal to his periors.

His craft capacity means that can do his job according to sta ard efficiency and produce results.

A trained man ought to h these qualifications.

OLD FOGIES AND FANATICS

The careless use of words is a costly business.

It would mean a marked advance in the sanity of American life if we should practice a more accurate use of the words conservative and radical.

We carelessly use the word conservatism to suggest stupidity, and made radicalism a synonym for recklessness.

The fact is that there is far less difference between a real conservative and a real radical than we commonly think.

It is conservatism gone to seed and radicalism run amuck that have given the words their current meaning.

The real conservative and the real radical are alike concerned with realities.

I am constantly impressed by the understanding comradeship between certain real conservatives and certain real radicals whom I know intimately.

Both, as I have said, are interested in realities.

They differ in the focus of their interest.

The real radical is a prospector.

The real conservative is a preserver.

Stray Dog

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

A LITTLE boy and girl wanted a dog, they wanted a cat, they wanted a bit or just anything for a pet. They lived in the city and father and m just couldn't consider the nuisance of an animal around. Then one day ca stray dog and their joy was unbounded. They fed him and loved him—bu next morning he strayed on. All that day they carried ropes and hunted fo dog. He wasn't to be found. In telling the story the mother ended, "Then came, and Joan came, when I asked what they were doing and, with wo hungry little faces lifted, they explained, 'Our dog's lost, mother, but we're ing another'." "What kind of a dog," I asked. "Why any dog," they cried, any dog will do." "Suddenly," she said, "I realized what a pet meant to them I vowed that city or no, neighbors or no, those children should have one t that hunger for something alive to love and care for!"

LAST night a dog, a curly dog
Came barking to our house and stayed.
He wore a collar but no name,
And Peter said he'd prob'ly strayed
From some nice home.
But Rosa smiled, "We keep him, what?
An' name him Fritz, an' feed him good."
So Fritzie barked and ran around
And stood on his hind legs for food
And thanked us for a bone.
And then this morning he was gone,—
Just lost himself again some way,
But though we hunted 'round about
And up and down for him all day
He wasn't there.
So then we looked for other dogs,
To be our dog, but couldn't find
From Joy Road to the Boulevard
Another dog of any kind
Not anywhere!
